Military Experts Say Warsaw Will Have to be Evacuated Within Few Days

Government May Be Moved to Cracow—Hope of Poles Making Stand Abandoned

Little Hope of Early Armistice—Russians Move for Further Delay

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(By Associated Press)—Warsaw will have to be evacuated within two or three days, in the opinion of the French and British military experts there, and the government is expected to be moved within that period, probably to Cracow.

The report of the members of the military mission, telegraphed here last night, declared that the Polish army along the River Bug, had retreated so precipitately that it did not even destroy the bridges behind it. This river was Warsaw's last line of defense.

A special Russian cavalry corps, the military men reported, was driving southwest along the border of the Allenstein district and had yesterday reached a point 30 miles

Lowell and Haverhill Firemen Cross Bats on Textile School Campus

With a large crowd of rooters from Haverhill and a number of local officials present, the Lowell and Haverhill fire department baseball teams lined up on the Textile school campus in Moody street this afternoon in the third and deciding contest of their series.

At the time of their previous visit here for the first game, the downriver firefighters copped a 6-4 victory but when Lowell traveled to Haverhill a few weeks ago the tables were turned and Lowell won. Today's game was to decide the series.

Following the game a luncheon was to be served and informal exercises carried out at the Westford street fire house.

DEMANDS YES OR NO ANSWER

British Government Irritated Over Soviet Russia's Attitude on Armistice

Demands Reply to Suggestion to Halt Hostilities and Open Peace Negotiations

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The British government is irritated over what it believes is Soviet Russia's equivocation over the British suggestion that the Russians halt at the armistice line of demarcation in Poland and begin peace negotiations. It has dispatched a sharp note to the Soviet government demanding a yes or no answer as to whether that government intends to listen to the suggestion.

The note, it is reported, contains no threats and is not in the nature of an ultimatum, simply requesting a quick answer as to what Soviet Russia intends to do.

What was regarded here as the ominous silence of Warsaw, so far as official messages were concerned, was broken today, but the despatches contained little to indicate what was going on.

The question whether the proposed peace conference in London shall be abandoned, is said to be conditional on Russia's reply. One of the chief subjects for discussion at the conference, was to be the Russo-Polish peace, and the last British note pointed out that if the Soviet government decides to make peace with Poland direct, then one of the main reasons for the London conference is removed.

Leo Kamenoff, president of the Moscow Soviet, who came to England to engage with the other Soviet delegates in the proposed negotiations over the resumption of trade with Russia, has been here three days without having been received by any British official.

THREATS TO KILL ALLIED SUBJECTS

Bolsheviki Shooting all Land Owners and Others Suspected of Having Money

Wearing of White Collar is Sufficient Evidence for a Death Warrant

ALLENSTEIN, East Prussia, Aug. 3. (By Associated Press).—Threats by the Russian Soviet forces to execute instantly any civil or military subjects of the allied powers who cross the frontier, are reported by refugees arriving here from the region to the east being occupied by the Russians. This has caused the inter-allied commission in this district to announce that no person will for any reason be permitted to enter the Russian-controlled zone.

These refugees declare that the Bolsheviks are shooting all land owners and property holders, and others suspected of having money. The wearing of a white collar, they assert, is evidence sufficient for a death warrant.

Officials of the inter-allied commission say that the majority of these reports are supported by circumstances indicating their truth.

Allied officials, who are taking only an unofficial interest in the fighting between the Russians and the Poles, have given evidence of uneasiness over the fact that the Russians were allowing only a four-kilometer neutral zone along the German border and had been successful once in an effort to converse with the frontier police.

The police, it is stated, will be the only force used to control the border situation, the allied officers saying that in no circumstances would the allied troops here in the plebiscite zone give the Germans aid.

Information here is that the Soviet troops are well disciplined and well supplied with munitions and guns.

SENSATIONAL SMASH IN WHEAT PRICES

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Excited general selling brought about a sensational smash in wheat prices today. The market opened 5 to 10c lower with December $2.16 to $2.21, and March $2.21. Most of the selling was said to come from company holders anxious to turn their wheat into cash. In a few minutes, however, the market rebounded as much as 10c in some cases.

HELD DANCE HALL HEARING

Petitioners and Remonstrants Are Heard by the License Commissioners

Remonstrants Declare That Dance Hall on Boulevard Would Constitute Nuisance

Several hundred people attended the hearing held in the police court room in Market street last evening on the petition of Bechard Bros. and Lirette Bros. for a license to conduct a public dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard and a couple of hundred others, who were unable to gain admittance because of lack of room, remained in the hallway while the arguments were presented to the license board. Hon. Dennis J. Murphy and D. J. Donahue appeared for the petitioners, while Francis M. Qua represented the remonstrants. The hearing opened at 8.05 o'clock with the three license commissioners present, Chairman Hanson being in the chair. At the request of Mr. Donahue, Clerk Flaherty of the commission read the opinion recently submitted by the city solicitor, placing the responsibility of granting or refusing the license upon the license board, and petitions bearing names of residents of Pawtucketville, who are opposed to the granting of the license were presented, while the petitioners also brought forward petitions signed by other residents of the district, who are in favor of the proposition. The petitioners were requested, to present their case first, but Mr. Murphy declined to do so.

Ing six cents to 33 1/2%. The weakness was due to the unfavorable Polish situation and large offerings of bills.

For the first time since trading in futures was resumed the pit was filled with traders. Business was on a big scale. The rush to sell appeared based largely on unfavorable financial reports especially from the southwest. There had been a severe fresh break in sterling exchange and, contrary to expectations, the British royal commission was said to be still absent from the export market.

RUN ON PONZI'S OFFICE SLACKENS

Only 100 Noteholders in Line This Morning—Speculators on Hand

Arrangements to Care for Women Noteholders at Special Window

BOSTON, August 4.—The run on the Securities Exchange Co., headed by Charles Ponzi, who claims to have made millions by dealings in international reply coupons, dwindled noticeably today. Perhaps a hundred noteholders were on hand to present their claims, but the long line that has heretofore extended along the street for a block or more was absent. Speculators were again in evidence seeking to buy notes.

Men who stood in line all day yesterday, without reaching the windows of the paying tellers, complained that the mechanism of payment worked so slowly that not more than 100 claims were disposed of during the day, but assistants in Ponzi's office insisted that this estimate was far under the mark. It was announced that arrangements had been made today to care for women noteholders at a special window reached by a private corridor, so that they need not submit to the discomfort of waiting interminably.

Edwin L. Pride, who is auditing Ponzi's accounts for the federal authorities, had a private conference with Assistant United States Attorney Daniel A. Shea, but neither he nor Mr. Shea would reveal its import.

Mr. Pride had with him two bundles of Ponzi's certificates which had been redeemed yesterday. He estimated that they represented payments of about $500,000. The examination of the accounts was progressing, he said, but considerable time would be required to complete it.

SEN. HARDING TALKS ON LEAGUE

Prefers Peace at Home Than Command International Peace of All the World

Says League Other Extreme to Referendum on Proposed Declaration of War

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Decrying appeals to classes as a menace second only to surrender of nationality to internationalism, Senator Harding, in his second front porch presidential campaign speech today, declared that if he could choose but one, he would "rather have industrial and social peace at home than command the international peace of all the world."

He asserted it would be unwise for this country to permit "our activities in seeking for peace in the old world to blind us to the essentials of peace."

HE WAS ONLY JOKING

Man Charged With Threatening His Wife Said He Didn't Mean It

"I was only joking and have been joking that way for the past 15 years and a good proof that I was joking is that she is still alive and the house is still standing." This was the defense presented by Edward Defoe of Tyngsboro at this morning's session of the police court when he was asked to plead to a charge of drunkenness and threatening his wife with bodily harm.

Defoe, admitted being drunk, but said he never, never in his life contemplated injuring his better half.

Mrs. Defoe told Judge Pickman that on Aug. 2 her husband entered their home and pulling a revolver out of his pocket, threatened to kill her, saying he would later set the house on fire.

When asked why he carried the revolver Defoe said it was for his own protection, for a few days prior to the incident he had received a black hand letter. The court found him guilty of both counts and ordered him to pay a fine of $3 for each offense.

Other Offenders

John Wegel and Antonio Czekanski, who were arrested by Lieut. Maher and Sergt. Dwyer on a complaint charging them with breaking and entering and larceny, had their case continued until Aug. 11.

Peter G. Veres was arraigned on a charge of violating the automobile laws by operating his machine without dimmers and inasmuch as he had changed the lenses on his auto lights his case was placed on file.

Where are the Stage Stars of Yesterday?

They Are Still Starring—In Business

BY LORRY A. JACOBS.

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent.

Where are the stars of yesterday? Those stars no longer shining? They're making good in another world. And selling goods—not pinning.

NEW YORK, August 4.—So it is with the brightest stage stars of former years. Remember how Frankie Bailey scandalized village folks by being advertised as the girl with the most beautiful legs in the world? Well, she probably still has them, but she's now taking in cash at a Greenwich village restaurant.

And do you remember Josie Sadler of George Ade's "Peggy from Paris"? She now sits behind a roll top desk as head of an electrical laboratory with her son as chief assistant.

FITZGERALD WITHDRAWS

Out of Race for Governor—State and Congressional Tickets of Both Parties

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—William F. Fitzgerald, the Boston banker, will not be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor at the Massachusetts primary on Sept. 7. At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the time for filing nomination papers with the secretary of state expired, it transpired that Mr. Fitzgerald's papers did not contain 150 signatures from each of four counties in the state, as the law requires. He had 150 signatures in Suffolk, in Middlesex and in Essex counties, but only 151 in Norfolk and 53 in Worcester. Consequently, his name will not appear on the primary ballot.

That development was the only important one which came to light when the filing time expired. Each of the two leading political parties filed a complete state ticket. The republicans put in also a candidate for congress in every congressional district. But the democrats made no nominations in the 5th, 6th and 16th districts.

Messrs. Burrill, Fuller, Langtry and Warner filed for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket, and there will be six candidates for the republican nomination for secretary of state unless some of them withdraw by 5 o'clock next Friday afternoon. State Treasurer Burrill and State Auditor Cook each have an opponent in the republican primary, but Atty. Gen. Allen is unopposed.

The only primary opponent to Ex-Lieut. Gov. Louis A. Frothingham of Eastern, who is a candidate for the republican nomination for congress in the 11th congressional district, will be W. P. Thore. In the 14th district Congressman Joseph Walsh will be opposed by Harold Winslow of New Bedford. Alderman Robert S. Maloney of Lawrence is the only candidate for the re-

WALL PAPER TALKS

After having the measurements of the rooms you wish Wall Paper for, the next thought should be the light effects in each room. We all know that color in the wall hangings makes or mars the room. Certain colors are best for certain lighted rooms. For instance, a yellow or soft tan is best for north lights. Blue has a tendency to make a room cold. Our salespersons know and appreciate the effect of colors and are always glad to extend to you the lessons experience has taught them.

One of a series of helpful hints to those in need of Wall Papers.

Lillian Russell is having a fine time telling women how to become and stay beautiful.

Edna Wallace Hopper has turned to the selling of stocks and bonds. And she's interested in a corset making concern.

FULLER FILES PAPERS

Congressman is Candidate for Lieutenant Governor—Represents Progressives

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Congressman Allan T. Fuller today filed with the secretary of state more than a sufficient number of signatures to place his name on the ballot as a candidate for nomination for lieutenant governor. These signatures were gathered by volunteer workers in the six counties of Worcester, Essex, Suffolk, Middlesex, Bristol and Norfolk, and were several thousand in excess of the number required by law. Congressman Fuller issued the following statement:

I have today filed my nomination papers and formally entered the contest for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor. I especially appeal for support to those who believe in having a businessman in the state house, and also to the Roosevelt element of the republican party who feel that the progressive element of the republican party should not be entirely unrepresented on the republican ticket which is expected to appeal to a united republican party.

If elected, I shall be independent of any interests or cliques whose objectives in altogether too many instances have been far removed from the interests of the people. I believe my business experience qualifies me especially to guard the interests of the rank and file of our people as opposed to those of public service corporations and others who are constantly attempting to influence legislation on Beacon hill.

JOHN DOLAN NEW CORNET GENIUS

Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa, having heard and appraised all of the great solo and band cornetists of the past quarter century, and having himself trained for war service in the hundreds of bands sent out from the Great Lakes station, more cornetists than any living teacher, has just "discovered" and acclaimed an artist of the cornet who is, in the opinion of all of the critics who have heard him, the premier cornet virtuoso of America, if not of the world.

The new genius of the cornet, John Dolan by name, has been engaged by the March King to succeed Herbert Clarke, the veteran star cornetist of Sousa's band who has retired for a deserved rest at his home in Haverhill, Ontario. Oddly enough, the name of John Dolan reached the ears of the great bandmaster long before the latter saw him or heard him play. A sight of him impressed Sousa, and when Dolan played, that settled it. For this latest star of Sousa's band is by way of being a matinee idol as well as a great artist.

Dark-eyed, strong featured, with a frame and "style" of an athlete, John Dolan is "easy to look at," even before the easy and flawless eloquence of his cornet is heard. He is a finished musician, a cultivated man and a most engaging personality, but to the music-loving public and to the loyal and loving followers of Sousa's band, John Dolan's greatest worth lies in the fact that he is the consummate master, the first in many years, of his chosen instrument—the solo and concert cornet.

Tickets for the concert are being sold very rapidly, and in all probability the supply for the evening performance will be exhausted before Saturday. There are still a good number of matinee

HAD RHEUMATISM FORTY YEARS

Unable to Bend Knees—
Claims Var-ne-sis Removed Every Sign of Disease

"I have suffered from rheumatism since I was 23 years of age. I am now 75. Of course, I thought there was no help for me, as each year I grew worse, until finally it got so bad that I had to be assisted in rising from a chair. I was unable to bend my knees and could not open or close my hands, as the fingers were swollen from a chalky deposit. So said Mrs. S. E. Smith of 60 Lynnfield Street, Lynn, Mass.

"At times I was confined to my bed, unable to lift my head from the pillow or turn over without assistance. It seemed as though every joint in my body was involved, and the pain through my hips was almost unendurable.

"So many people had been helped through Var-ne-sis that I decided to try it, although I had very little faith that it would benefit me very much. I secured the medicine and started to take it faithfully, and after several months I could see a decided change in my condition; by continuing the treatment every sign and symptom left me, even the hard swelling on the finger joints disappeared. It seems almost incredible that a woman who has had the disease so long could recover. I consider it almost miraculous, but will be glad to answer any letters pertaining to my case."

Var-ne-sis is a vegetable remedy that has been remarkably successful in chronic cases of rheumatism, particularly in those cases that have been treated with the ordinary remedies month after month without results.

The time to take Var-ne-sis is NOW. Don't suffer another day. Get it at your druggists. In liquid or tablet form. You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges." Send for it today to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. It's free.

Var-ne-sis Rub-On eases pain.

21 and winter hats between Dec. 21 and March 21.

All the buyers are back from Europe now and here is what they learned about hats: Small hats and medium ones with the turn-up across the face are models still in the running and those with brims that slope down all around and then have a narrow straight edge in addition are especially favored, as note the two May Smith hats illustrated.

It's the material that is going to count most this fall in hats, and in these there is a tendency to reproduce the skins of animals. After that, there are embroideries in strange patterns and ornaments of odd device; many of which appear symbolic.

LABOR LEADER BACKS SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Senator Harding held a conference yesterday with T. V. O'Connor, Buffalo, president of the International Longshoremen's association, at which the labor situation was discussed generally and the candidate was assured of the support of the labor leader.

A statement issued by Mr. O'Connor after the conference said in part:

"I am for Senator Harding because I believe a change of administration absolutely necessary to restore confidence in this country. I know Senator Harding is a real man from whom a labor will always get a square deal without any bias of trumpets or brass bands.

"I have heard a good deal of various leaders that are going to deliver the labor vote this year, but I want to say that nobody will deliver it. Labor is thinking as never before, and is going to vote to suit itself. In 1916 I was away from home and lost my vote but if I had been there I would have voted for Wilson. But the democratic party has since then lost its claim for confidence of the country. We must restore popular confidence in our government in order to put an end to the unrest that exists. The fact is that the world was in a bad scrape and if the United States does not keep its feet on the ground the world can't.

"I deal with all the nationalities, except Asiatics, in our organizations and I know that there is a general desire to get away from entanglements with European concerns. There is a good deal of apprehension among the men, least conditions which they observe in Europe may reach here. They are determined to avoid anything of that kind if they can.

"It seems very plain to me that labor must support the republican party this year. If the democrats should win, the government would be turned over to the control of the solid south and the machine-dominated democrats of the north. The solid south will be the dominant partner and the south has been utterly reactionary in its attitude toward labor. It is completely out of step with modern attitudes toward such questions as women in industry, child labor, limited hours of labor, employers' liability and the like.

"Former Senator Bailey is campaigning for the nomination for governor of Texas, with the open shop as his platform. I have never asked the absolute closed shop, but I certainly could not assent to the view that the southern democracy taking of the phenomena of labor."

Science now puts forth the theory that the sense of sight is an electrical phenomenon.

Milliners Are Against Fad for Unseasonable Hats

BY CORA MOORE
New York's Fashion Authority
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—With summer revels at their maddest and merriest New York has been wearing fall hats for weeks. From the first of July, it has been practically impossible to buy a fresh-looking summer straw.

The members of the Millinery association seem to be divided among themselves on the question, and not just quite sure, whether, in the long run, it is an advantage or a disadvantage to their trade to have the dear women overlapping the seasons in the matter of hats. One of the members advocates that all summer hats should be bought between June 21 and Sept.

TURKS LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST GREEKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3 (By the Associated Press).—Turkish nationalist forces opened a bitter offensive against the Greeks along a 60-mile front in Asia Minor on Monday. The battle line extends along the Bagdad railroad westward from Kutahia to Simar.

Greek forces in Anatolia are being reinforced from Thrace, and, in conjunction with British detachments, have advanced eastward from Imdid to Adabazar. The impression is growing here that the Greeks and British will counter against the Turkish action in the Smyrna district with movements of their forces through Anatolian and Black Sea ports, thus taking railroads and occupying all strategic points.

Izzet Pasha, former Grand Vizier, has been commissioned by the sultan's government to go to Ankara and attempt to reconcile the nationalists.

Desperate attacks against Greek forces which had advanced beyond their area of occupation were made on Sunday by the nationalists at Smyrna, about 10 miles northeast of Smyrna. The action lasted 24 hours and the Greeks were obliged to retreat, having lost 50 dead and 100 wounded. They were not pursued.

An eggbeater has been invented to be driven by water from a faucet.

A Practical Prescription For Sour, Acid Stomach

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased but if this condition is allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach walls and produce gastritis with stomach ulcers. This may render a radical surgical operation necessary even to prolong life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. The excess acid or stomach hyperacidity can easily be neutralized by Bisurated Magnesia taken in teaspoonful doses in a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary as it is absolutely harmless. Be sure to ask your druggist for the pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for this purpose.—Adv.

Held Dance Hall Hearing

phy objected, claiming that the remonstrants should be heard first. Mr. Hanson ruled that the petitioners would be heard first, saying he had received the opinion of several local attorneys on the matter. Commissioner Putnam said he was a member of the legislature for five or six years and as far as he could remember petitioners were always heard first at hearings, and Mr. Murphy replied that one must not be guided by the doings of the legislature. Mr. Murphy said the petitioners had presented their request and had nothing further to say and, accordingly, Mr. Qua opened the remonstrants' case, calling attention to the fact that Pawtucketville was unanimous in its objections. He said there were three reasons for the objections; first, that the residents of the district don't want the dance hall; second, that its establishment and opening would constitute a nuisance, and third that it would stand as a menace to the morals of the community. He also stated that a dance hall in that locality would be injurious to the Lowell General hospital.

Mr. Qua then stated the remonstrants were Rev. A. G. Lyon, Harry J. Trevel, representing the residents of Pawtucketville; Cornelius F. Cronin, representing the Pawtucketville Memorial association; the Colburn Union mission, the Pawtucket Congregational church, the Lowell General hospital, the medical staff of the hospital and Dr. B. L. Leland, director of the genito-urinary clinic of the city. He called as the first remonstrant, Larkin T. Trell, one of the trustees of the Lowell General hospital, who said: "I appear here as one of the trustees of the hospital, who are much concerned about this petition and who will ask you not to grant it. We have no personal interest, and appear here as interested residents of Lowell and as trustees of the hospital. One thing is essential for the conduct of a hospital is quietness, and that is going to be our main argument against the dance hall. We have donated large sums of money because we are isolated and the location of the hospital was selected because it was isolated. It is not very material that we have a dance hall, but it is essential that we have hospitals and that they be protected."

A. G. Lyon, chairman of the board of trustees of the hospital, said the hospital is one of the best known institutions of its kind in the state. It has received numerous substantial donations and it has been managed by a board of trustees composed of some of the best residents of this city. The board of trustees, he said, at a recent meeting, voted unanimously against the granting of the license and in behalf of the trustees he wished to enter a protest.

Questioned by Mr. Donahue, Mr. Pollard said he did not know the distance between the site of the proposed dance hall and the hospital and when asked if the distance would have some effect, he replied in the affirmative. He said he would not object to the dance hall if there were no noise.

Miss Bertha W. Allen, superintendent of the hospital for the past four years, said she was enjoying her vacation in Maine when she heard about the hearing and came to Lowell for the sole purpose of filing her protest. She argued that during her four years at the hospital the noise on the boulevard had disturbed the patients to such an extent that on some occasions the police were appealed to. In closing, she said: "I protest against the granting of the license in behalf of the sick of Lowell."

Dr. G. Forrest Martin said: "We cannot ungratefully too strongly the merits of the Lowell General hospital." On various occasions, he said, patients have been disturbed by the noise from the municipal bath house, but no objection has been raised because the bath house works for the good of the community. With the dance hall, he said, there is going to be noise in quantity and quality. With a jazz band at the hall the patients will not hear music but noise, disturbing noise, which will prevent sleep. Referring to the financial end of the case, the doctor said there is a million and a quarter invested in the hospital and its buildings, while the income of a half-million goes for service in Lowell. "I also protest on the ground that this dance hall if located there will be but the beginning of a midway, which will be worse than the dance hall. I want to protest with all the vigor there is in me."

Rev. A. G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket church, said the residents of Pawtucketville were not opposed to dance halls or dances, but they were opposed to the erection of a particular dance hall in a particular district. He said the opposition did not represent a fight between nationality or creed, for Catholics and Protestants in Pawtucketville are united in one common cause, the welfare of their district. He said in a recent interview with Rev. P. J. Lally, pastor of St. Columba's church, the latter stated there was no demand for a dance hall in Pawtucketville. "I have no animosity against anyone," continued Mr. Lyon, "and I want to see any previous speaker," he said, "and I am surrounded that the Pawtucketville association did not take means before to do away with the evils which their claim exist in their district. If dancing is a detriment to the sick people why is the hospital conducting dances within its walls? The trustees of the hospital objected to the erection of a contagious hospital on the Chase land, but, nevertheless, the hospital was erected in that district." The speaker then made reference to dances that are being conducted in St. Anne's parish house and to the proposed dance hall that is being contemplated by the chamber of commerce on the South common. He also referred to the carnival recently conducted to Centralville by the Pawtucketville Memorial association, saying it was of the kind that should not have been tolerated by the police. At this point Mr. Lyon interrupted, but Mr. Murphy requested him to sit down and extend to the speakers the same courtesy that was extended him. Continuing Mr. Murphy stated that the sound of music at the dance hall will be thrown on the river by a sounding board. He also referred to the distance to

Others who spoke against the granting of the petition were Rev. A. W. Shaw of St. Anne's church and A. H. Whitcomb, representing the Federation of Churches; Samuel G. Leinbas, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Cowdry, Mrs. Kelly and Cornelius F. Cronin. Dr. Harold L. Leland, director of the city genito-urinary clinic said one-third of the acute cases of disease which come before him for treatment date their acquisition to the time of visits to public dance halls and isolated spots along the boulevard, and as director of the clinic he remonstrated against the granting of the license.

Mr. Qua then presented the following argument:

"We undertook to show you that there are three grounds for refusing the petition for a dance hall on the boulevard. The grounds for objection are namely, that the residents of Pawtucketville don't want the dance hall, that its establishment and opening would constitute a nuisance, and that it would stand as a menace to the morals of the community. I would call your attention to the character of the audience. They are no business competitors of the petitioners, they have no axe to grind—they are the people of the homes of Lowell, of all walks of life, of all creeds, all nationalities. Their cause is the cause of their homes and a most important one."

"The traffic problem is another phase of the matter. The Pawtucket boulevard is heavily trafficked now and to this has often borne testimony by the accidents which have occurred there. The danger of congestion would be greatly increased with a dance hall erected there, what with the constant running back and forth between dance hall and bath house."

"We would not have you think that we are opposed to dancing or to public dance halls. With the proper location the public dance hall provides good amusement, but this is not the proper location. There are certain persons of vicious and criminal tendencies who would frequent the place and make it unsafe for the young girls of Lowell. Furthermore the young people on the bathing beach, scantily clad, would be subject to the seductive strains from the jazz band. Again it is home loving interests that ask your protection, gentlemen, by denying the petition just presented."

Mr. Murphy, speaking in behalf of the petitioners, said a question of this kind should be approached without hysteria and without the creation of a lot of bogies. "I am as much concerned in the morality of Lowell as any previous speaker," he said, "and I am surrounded that the Pawtucketville association did not take means before to do away with the evils which their claim exist in their district. If dancing is a detriment to the sick people why is the hospital conducting dances within its walls? Mr. Murphy, speaking in behalf of the petitioners, said a question of this kind should be approached without hysteria and without the creation of a lot of bogies. "I am as much concerned in the morality of Lowell as the hospital being 1354 feet and asked the commissioners to consider the money invested in the hall by the petitioners. In closing he said, "If moral conditions are being threatened, then do not grant the license."

Louis T. Bechard, one of the petitioners, said the permit for the erection of the dance hall was granted June 21 by the commissioner of public property and he waited until July 7 before beginning operations on the new building. He argued that the remonstrants had plenty of time to file their protests before the work was started.

Dr. Martin then explained that two dances were conducted at the hospital by the nurses and this was on the occasion of the graduation of a class of nurses and the opening of a new building. He said the hospital conducted other dances at St. Anne's parish house and at the Vesper dance hall, but all dances were properly chaperoned. At this point adjournment was taken and the chairman of the board announced the matter would be taken under advisement.

New Railroad Rates Effective Aug. 26

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The American traveling public and American shippers may expect to begin paying the increased passenger fares and freight rates authorized by the interstate commerce commission, Aug. 26, representatives of the railroads announcing today that it was planned to put the new rates into effect on that date. The increased rates, in the opinion of internal revenue bureau officials and others connected with the collection of federal taxes, will increase government revenues approximately $100,000,000 a year.

Tobacco Co. Declares Dividend

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The American Tobacco Co., today announced a dividend of three per cent in scrip, payable to both classes of common stock of record Aug. 14. The scrip will bear interest at 8 per cent and will be distributed Sept. 1, and May be transferred into common stock on March 1, 1921. On May 5, the company declared a 5 per cent quarterly dividend in cash which had been the prevailing earnings of this security for nearly a year.

Reopen American Woolen Co.'s Mill

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Aug. 4.—Announcement was made here today that the Saranac mill of the American Woolen Co., North Smithfield, closed since July 10, would reopen in part next Monday morning. The dry finishing and weaving departments will be the departments to start. No mention is made of the other departments.

CLOSED THURSDAY AT NOON—CLERKS' HALF HOLIDAY

COX UNABLE TO ATTEND

Will Not be Present at Roosevelt Notification at Hyde Park

DAYTON, O., August 4.—Governor Cox, democratic presidential candidate, will be the guest of honor today, and deliver an address at the annual picnic of the Gem City Democratic club of this city at Shiloh, about 10 miles north of Dayton. The governor said he did not expect to discuss national politics, but would deal principally with reminiscences of his state career.

The governor spent yesterday close to his desk at his newspaper office here, trying to reduce piles of unanswered correspondence. He also considered further aid toward ratification of the women's suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature. Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the women's bureau of the democratic national committee, has reported, the governor said, that prospects for ratification in Tennessee were unfavorable. The governor is expecting a ratification on the exact line-up on the legislature late this week, from personal representatives.

Governor Cox announced definitely yesterday that he would not be able to attend the vice presidential notification ceremonies for Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., on August 9. Besides important conferences with party leaders remaining over here after the presidential notification event next Saturday, it was understood that Governor Cox wished to let Mr. Roosevelt be the principal democratic figure at Hyde Park.

Several signatures were received yesterday by Governor Cox from admirers, who hoped their tokens would augment "Cox luck" during the campaign. Among them were historic telegram receiving instruments, sent by Commodore E. C. Benedict of New York, a friend of former President Grover Cleveland. He said they were used by Mr. Cleveland in receiving returns of his election, and also by President Wilson for both of his successful election periods.

Among invitations Governor Cox received yesterday, was a request for his attendance next April, at the Fresno, Cal., raisin growers' carnival.

Prospects for a large crowd here next Saturday, for Governor Cox's notification ceremonies, were raised by reports received by additional marching delegations and bands planning the pilgrimage. The Indiana Democratic club is reported to be sending one of the largest outside delegations of 1000 members. A special train with 750 democrats from Port Wayne, Ind., is scheduled and the Ironbridge club of Chicago reported that it would be there with 100 members. A delegation from Camden, O., will be led by Gilbert Cox, father of the nominee.

Many automobile caravans from Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky are also expected. Governor Cox spent last night at his farm at Jacksonburgh, 30 miles from Dayton.

MAYOR SAVES SONFROM DROWNING

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Mayor Peters rescued his oldest son, Andrew J., Jr., from drowning off North Haven, Me., while both were on vacation there last week, according to a story he told upon his return to city hall. The boy fell into the water while he was vainly trying, with his brother Alanson, to catch a jelly fish off the stern of the mayor's small sail boat, which was at anchor.

The mayor heard the splash and looking around saw only Alanson on the deck of the boat. Alanson was so frightened that he was unable to scream or to tell what happened. The fright pictured on the boy's face told the mayor, however, what had happened. He scrambled over ropes and fish lines to the extreme stern of the boat, leaped far out over the water and pulled Andrew Jr. back to safety. The youngster, who is only 8 years old, knew enough about swimming not to sink, but he had swallowed a great deal of water and was thoroughly frightened. The mayor then rowed both youngsters to shore, where Mrs. Peters soon mothered them out of their fright.

"JAKEY" AS CAUSEFOR A DIVORCE

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The upse of Jamaica ginger as a cause for divorce is set out in a libel for the first time in the history of this commonwealth, and so far as known in any state, in the country yesterday in the superior court by Florence G. Sweeten of Boston against Joseph E. Sweeten of Boston.

The libel alleges that Mr. Sweeten, "since said marriage, has contracted gross and confirmed habits of drunkenness caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, Jamaica ginger and other drugs." The libel also charges cruel and abusive treatment on July 25, 1920, and on other times and dates.

She was married to him June 1, 1912, in Boston and lived there with him. She asks alimony and custody of their 5½-year-old daughter, Margaret Anna.

THE MARATHON CLUB

The Marathon Social & Athletic club has been granted a permit by the building inspector to change over tenement property at 37-39 Hanover street for clubhouse purposes. The alterations will involve an expenditure of $6000. Twelve partitions on the lower floor of the building will be removed to make room for a gymnasium and race track. The second floor will be used as a music room and an addition is to be built to be used for shower baths, boiler room and reception room.

BASEBALL GAME

The manager of the Postoffice baseball team announced today that his club would line up against the Saunders market team in a twilight game on the South common tomorrow night.

TROOPS MOBILIZED

3000 Mexicans to be Sent to Lower California

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.—Mobilization of only 3000 men, under the command of Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez, for the campaign against Esteban Cantu, the insurgent governor of Lower California, has been ordered by the government, according to a statement issued last night by Gen. P. Elias Calle, secretary of war. He declared more troops would be sent to Lower California if necessary and would be led by Gen. Angel Flores. It was indicated the government does not consider the rebellion there of great importance.

Gen. Lucio Blanco, General Candido Aguilar, former governor of the state of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of the late President Carranza, and Gustavo Espinosa Miralles, former governor of Coahuila, and one of the leading Carranza adherents are believed to have joined Governor Cantu, says the newspaper Universal, quoting official advice.

The Chinese fraternal union has received a message from Chinese in Lower California saying Gov. Cantu has demanded a loan of $500,000, but that, following a consultation with the Chinese minister at Washington, it has been decided to refuse to meet the demand, as such a step might be construed as aiding the rebellion.

Chinese and Japanese residents of Lower California have sent an appeal to the United States government, asking that they be given permission to cross the frontier into California during the campaign against Gov. Cantu.

CONFERENCE ONCOAL SITUATION

Mayor Perry D. Thompson and W. F. Whitcomb, traffic manager of the Lowell chamber of commerce, were in conference with officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the South station in Boston this afternoon relative to the New England coal situation, principally as it has to do with the fuel shipped over that road.

Although only a small part of Lowell's coal comes in on trains of the N.Y., N.H. & H. road, nevertheless what little does come entails extra charges, it is understood. The mayor of Brockton recently wrote Mayor Thompson asking him to attend a conference with officials of the road and it is presumed that representatives of a number of other New England municipalities were present at this afternoon's meeting.

Last Line of Defense Gone

Polish Forces Demoralized

The experts reported that the Polish forces were demoralized on the whole northern and central fronts, and were falling back. The military men said they had virtually abandoned hope of the Poles making a stand now.

The Polish armistice delegates returned to Warsaw Tuesday night, and the Polish government has little hope of the speedy arranging of an armistice. The members of the allied mission are convinced that the soviet government does not intend to negotiate an armistice, they reported, and declared their belief that the Russians had set the next meeting of the negotiators for today at Minsk knowing that it would be impossible for the Poles to arrive there in time, making a pretext for further delay.

The Polish government, it is learned, is undecided as to whether it will send emissaries to Minsk.

The experts said their gravest concern was the imminent cutting off of Warsaw's direct communications with Danzig, upon which Poland is dependent for military supplies.

Lord d'Abernon, the British ambassador to Germany, a member of the British mission to Poland, has returned to Warsaw from Danzig.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS POURED INTO HOSPITALS

CRACOW, Aug. 3.—Thousands of wounded soldiers are taxing hospital facilities here and doctors and nurses, exhausted by long vigils, are often dropping beside the operating tables. The American Red Cross has opened an improvised school for nurses, and 300 women are being given a hasty elementary course.

HUNDREDS FLEEFROM WARSAW

WARSAW, Aug. 3.—(City Associated Press) The suspense under which Warsaw has labored for three days was heightened tonight by the news that the negotiations at Baranovitch between the Polish and soviet Russian armistice commissions had been without result. The report that the Russian soviet government insisted that peace conversations begin at once caused a sensation in political circles.

Announcement was made that Gen. Romer's party was authorized only to confer with the bolsheviks on the question of an armistice. This was in line with the understanding that prevailed when the Polish emissaries left this city for the front.

Americans Ready to Leave

Officials at the American consulate have packed up their most important records for prompt shipment from this city in case the Russian bolsheviks continue to advance. The task of visiting the passports of the hundreds who desire to leave Warsaw, will continue until the consulate is forced to close.

Outgoing trains for Vienna, Poznan and Danzig are crowded, and seat reservations are selling at a large premium. People are fighting to gain entrance to the station platforms and rush for places to sit or stand as soon as the trains back in. A close guard is maintained by troops, who inspect all papers to see that no soldiers depart unless they bear proper credentials.

American Red Cross Headquarters

Provisional headquarters for the American Red Cross have been established at Cracow for use in case it is necessary for that organization to abandon Warsaw. About 50 Red Cross women workers are still in this city, but they have all their baggage packed and are prepared to leave on short notice. The Y.M.C.A., which has been engaged in the distribution of American relief supplies here, has also taken precautionary measures and officials state today that unless the bolsheviks come within a week nearly everything of importance will be saved.

Three hundred carloads of supplies were brought out of Bialystok by the Red Cross before the bolsheviks captured that city and members of the organization continued treating the wounded until the soviet forces were within four miles of the town. In addition to saving all their equipment, the Red Cross workers brought out 300 orphans, who had been pupils in a school established by the junior American Red Cross. These orphans have been installed in a village near Warsaw. Red Cross officials here declared today that they would remain in Warsaw until the last. About 70 women workers left recently, but their departure had been decided upon some time ago, because of a decision to reduce the local staff on August 1.

WHY PRICES ARE HIGH

The state commission on the necessities of life, in its report to the legislature that was filed yesterday, drags forth into the daylight what is undoubtedly one of the colored gentlemen in the high-cost-of-living woodpile. It says, "Pacific coast salmon and halibut still bring high prices, but cod and haddock, of which the supply has been enormous, remain a drug on the market because people will not buy them."

The ocean ought to be one of the main sources of food supply for all New England, and particularly for a large part of Massachusetts. Almost unlimited quantities of nourishment are available at our front doorsteps. The harvest of the sea seldom fails. It can be gathered at all seasons of the year. The cost of garnering and marketing it is comparatively small. Yet we neglect it.

Cod and haddock are as nourishing in their way as the choicest cuts of Pacific coast salmon or meat. They can, without difficulty, be cooked in many appetizing ways. The truth of the matter is, though, that we won't eat the humble fish, although, according to the commission's report, the prices of meat especially are unwarrantably high.

There probably isn't any good reason for blaming people for buying the kind of food that happens to please their fancies so long as they have the money to pay for it. It is the inalienable right of every individual to furnish his table in accordance with whatever scheme of domestic economy suits him best. The day may come of course when some of the epicures who are now turning up their noses at cod and haddock may wish that they had thought a little more about accumulating a sizable bank account, against the coming of a rainy day, and a little less about tickling their palates. However that may be, it is certain that a good many of us have no business to continue kicking against the high cost of living while we are doing our little best to keep it high.

THE SALE OF "JAKE"

According to a story in the news columns of The Sun yesterday, officials of the Lowell park department are in a position to furnish abundant and conclusive evidence that considerable quantities of "jakey" are being consumed in this city. For the benefit of any persons—if there are any such—who may not know what "jakey" is, it may be explained that it is, or is supposed to be, a tincture of Jamaica ginger, having sometimes as high an alcohol content as 97 per cent.

It is commonly believed that a large portion of the average of three or four "drunks" that are taken into custody daily by the city's policemen have become intoxicated as a result of drinking this mixture that is fiery enough to burn the lining from a copper-plated throat and that is body-wrecking in its effects.

Under a construction of the law, as given by Judge Enright, that "jakey" sellers could only be prosecuted if it could be shown that they were selling the concoction for beverage purposes, the police have found it extremely difficult to cope with the evil. Attorney General J. Weston Allen, however, has just made public a ruling that may help the situation somewhat.

The board of pharmacy, he states, has authority to revoke the certificate of any druggist who engages in the "jakey" trade. The board, apparently, has sole power to determine whether any drug store proprietor is selling the mixture for use as a beverage. Sales very much in excess of what might be required for medicinal purposes, it would seem, might be considered as reasonably conclusive evidence of guilt.

Whatever views individuals may have regarding the wisdom, or unwisdom, of prohibition, there can be but one stand for good citizens to take, and that is that the villainous business of selling "jakey" must be fought by every available weapon until it is stamped out.

FIRST-DEGREE MURDER

The verdict, "guilty of murder in the second degree," recently returned by the jury in the Pettibone case in Vermont, illustrates once more how difficult it is to obtain a conviction of first degree homicide in states where capital punishment is in vogue, even when the evidence clearly warrants such a verdict.

In the Pettibone case, the jurors, having asked for special instructions, were informed by the presiding judge that the evidence that had been submitted warranted only one of two verdicts, either "not guilty," or "guilty of murder in the first degree." Yet, as has been stated, a "second-degree" verdict was returned.

The statutes of Massachusetts, and, presumably, of most of the other states, define first degree murder as being the taking of human life with "premeditated malice aforethought." The word premeditated is omitted from the definition of second-degree homicide.

The presence of premeditation is not always easy to establish. It must often be inferred from circumstances and conditions. Judges, though, frequently instruct jurors that the time element cannot be taken into consideration in attempting to reach a decision as to premeditation. The human mind works so quickly that the deliberate intention to kill may be formed in an instant.

In Pettibone's case, the fact that he mixed strychnine with salts and then gave the dose to his wife shows that he must have acted with clear, well-formed intention.

To convict such a criminal of second degree murder is to make a travesty of justice. To limit-hearted jurymen and capital punishment must be credited this and similar instances of the failure of the law to function as intended in homicide cases.

THE STREET PLAYGROUNDS

New York city has just added portions of 89 streets to the area already set aside for street playground purposes. At the same time that this news reaches the public, the announcement is made that a number of residents in Howard street in this city have entered a protest against the continued use of the thoroughfare on which their homes are located for play purposes during the early evening hours.

Considerable sympathy will be felt for the protesting Howard street residents. To the casual onlooker it seems an excellent thing that the children should have a chance to romp and enjoy themselves to their young hearts' content, under the direction of supervisors furnished by the city, and in a place where they are free from the danger of passing automobile traffic. Most observers, though, will agree that there is something to be said for the point of view of those who do not look upon it as an unalloyed blessing to have a hundred or more noisy youngsters romping and shouting in front of their doors every evening.

Perhaps a solution of the problem of allowing the people of Howard street to enjoy normal quiet, and yet giving the children a safe place to play in, may be found in the removal of the play area to another street. The setting aside of a part of Charles street for play purposes appears thus far to have encountered no opposition from residents in the neighborhood. It would not seem improbable that there may be thoroughfares in the vicinity of Howard street whose residents would assume a similarly tolerant attitude toward the children.

The incident, in any event, should serve to emphasize the need that the city has for more space devoted to regular playgrounds.

THE GOOD OF TODAY

"Things past and to come seem best; things present worst," says the poet. With us, as individuals, it is the joys of the days gone by, the anticipated pleasures that loom largest. The perfect day is always in the past or the future.

The voice of the pessimist is always heard in the land crying aloud that we have fallen upon evil times. "The world is very evil, the times are waxing late," he tells us. Perhaps so. But a very similar cry has been heard echoing through the ages. If there has ever been a single man who has escaped bearing it, it must have been Adam, who had no neighbors. It is a pretty good old world, though, and has been for a long time for those who looked at it aright.

We have profiteers, threats of coal shortage, nearly empty sugar

bowls, and the necessity for having to get a tight grip on our imaginations and pocketbooks before ordering a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes or a Sunday dinner. Nevertheless we are most of us reasonably happy or ought to be. We have our worries and perplexities, of course, and if we didn't have the particular ones that we do have, we should surely have others.

But, we are the heirs of all the good of all the ages. The bad, the human race has been, and is, slowly casting out. Since the first apple tree blossomed in the Garden of Eden the sun has never shone upon such unlimited resources of happiness as exist today in this land where the air is full of sunshine and the flag is full of stars.

A budget system isn't a thing to enthrone very much about in a political campaign. Vice Presidential Candidate Roosevelt is eternally right, though, when he says "there is need for reform in the methods of making appropriations by congress."

With tenants clamoring for higher assessments to penalize rent-hoarding landlords, and landlords wailing that assessments are already higher than they should be, the job of being a tax assessor doesn't appear to be one of the most alluring in the world.

During the first six months of the year work was started on 101 garages in Lowell. During the same period the erection was begun of 46 dwellings. Which reminds one of the South Sea islander who invested in a silk hat as the first essential for a costume.

Governor Cox, with the White House in his mind's eye, says "it would appear to be a reflection on the city to desire to leave Dayton and live in any other place." There would be no difficulty about believing this if he had been talking about Lowell.

It comes pretty near weighing down like the last straw added to the H. C. of L. burden when you have to step up to the restaurant cashier's desk and pay 15 cents for one-seventh of a small blueberry pie.

Even Senator Lodge would probably say "Amen" to the prayer of a clergyman visiting the White House who, seated in the vacant chair of the president, petitioned for the speedy restoration of Mr. Wilson to health.

A subject of King George V writes to a Boston newspaper to say that the British government "worketh for righteousness, justice, peace and liberty in my country (India) as in all other parts of the British empire." Especially Ireland?

With the completion of the work recently begun of rebuilding part of St. John's hospital, Lowell will have cause to point with more than common pride to its institutions for the care of the sick and the injured.

The members of the municipal council, feasting the city hall reporters, showed appropriate appreciation of the services of the boys who are doing their bit to add to the gaiety of nations by keeping the spotlight trained upon the city fathers.

Howard E. Figg, special assistant attorney general, asserts that manufacturers and jobbers are conspiring to keep up the price of clothing in defiance of the Lever act. A fig for Mr. Figg's talk, unless he has something more substantial to offer.

The railroad labor economist, who asserts that the increase in freight rates will not result in an addition to the price of commodities, may yet be heard from, informing the public that it is possible to extract blood from turnips.

After reading of the delicious dinner, prepared and served by the ten young women taking the teachers' training course in cookery at the Vocational school, we feel a bit proved that we didn't get an invitation.

Mildred Harris Chaplin thinks that she can get along very nicely without Charlie for a husband, but what a lot of joy would go out of life if he should be divorced from the movies.

The baby, christened in the arms of its father, standing on a slender girder at the top of a 14-story building, is surely beginning life, well up toward the top.

"There is no shortage of sugar in this country," says the Fall River News. If that's true, Lowell is no longer a part of the U. S. A.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Neither fear, nor wish for, your last day." Goodness, said Athenaeus, does not consist in greatness, but greatness in goodness.

"Say, old man," said a friend to a golf player, "what is the best way to learn to play golf?" "Well," replied the other man, "take a couple of dozen balls, a wheelbarrow load of mud and forget that you ever went to church."

A well known statistician was giving some statements about a certain industry at a public dinner. "These are not my figures, ladies and gentlemen," he said. "They are the figures of a man who knows what he is talking about."

An Extraordinary Boy

Into the office of a business man rushed a bright-faced lad. For three minutes he waited and then began to show signs of impatience. "Excuse me, sir," he said at length. "I'm in a hurry."

"Well, what do you want?" asked the business man. "A job?" "But why the hurry?" "Got to hurry," replied the lad briefly. "Left school yesterday, and haven't struck anything suitable yet. The only place where I can stay long is where they pay me for it." "How much to you want?" "Fifteen dollars a week for a start." "And when can you come?" "Don't need to come! I'm here. I could have been at work five minutes ago if you'd only said so!"—Chicago News.

Profiteers' Soliloquy

(Shakespeare, Assisted by St) (Enter Profiteer)
Profiteer—To raise or not to raise; that is the question:
Whether 'tis more profitable to suffer the tiny, harmless arrows of outraged congress, or to take arms against the puny laws of the state, and, by opposing, end them? To raise, to raise again, and raise once more and buy my wife a diamond—
Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished—
Yes—can I get away with it? There's Palmer! But, plish! and tush! O pooh-pooh!
He's asleep! Yet, in that sleep, what a dream might come? And dream, never lowered rates. Though it do entertain most hideous nightmares of the dark—
(Profiteer stretches arms, yawns)
Ho, varlets! Ho, secretaries! (Enter Varlets and Secretaries)
Varlets and Secretaries—What ho, Sir?
Profiteer—Raise 'em! Raise 'em! Thrice raise 'em!
(Asbestos Curtain)

Rivals

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)
In what sort of a man, or think, or do, I have a rival and his name is You. The world is so compressed You cannot move.
But You may jar me from my little groove.

Nor are You so secure, though throned on high.
That You may scorn your rival, who is I.
So runs your peril and so runs my fate.
Until we spill the word co-operate!

LOWELL WOMEN MAKE READY TO VOTE

Lowell women showed more interest in the possibility of their voting this fall at the registration sessions held yesterday afternoon and evening than they did Monday. A total of 37 women were registered in comparison with only 11 the day before. An even hundred men registered.

The registration of the women by wards was as follows: Ward 1, 3; ward 2, 2; ward 3, 12; ward 4, 3; ward 5, 7; ward 6, 5; ward 7, 8; ward 8, 25; ward 9, 16. Total 87.

Men: Ward 1, 13; ward 2, 11; ward 3, 10; ward 4, 6; ward 5, 2; ward 6, 23; ward 7, 10; ward 8, 13; ward 9, 5. Total, 100.

This week's final registration session will be held this evening from 7 to 9. Sessions will also be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

George H. Stevens acted as moderator at the special town meeting held in Grange hall, Dracut Centre, last evening. The sum of $3,000 was appropriated for the installation of a heating system at the Kenwood school. This amount to be used with the $2,000 voted at the regular town meeting, and the school committee was empowered to dispose of the old heating system and accessories. The selection were instructed to confer with officials of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway relative to the removal of two poles recently erected on the Collinsville park by the street car company. The article calling for an appropriation of $3,000 for an addition to the Pleasant street bridge was laid over until next year and similar action was taken on the article calling for an appropriation of $250 for street and guide signs.

NEW CENTRALVILLE MARKET

After extensive alterations to the building at the corner of West Sixth and Jewett streets, John J. Inglis, formerly a member of the firm of J. J. McCausland Co. and owner of the property, will open an up-to-date market tomorrow morning. All new store fixtures have been installed and a complete line of meats and groceries will be shown. Mr. Inglis is well known in the Centralville district and has the best wishes of his many friends for success in his new location.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"That photograph of the Line-House at Jackson, Me., published in The Sun a week or so ago was a fine picture of the little wooden hotel," said Hon. James E. O'Donnell to the Man About Town yesterday. "But the story that accompanied the photo was far from describing the conditions that exist on the Canadian line. I stopped at the Line-House last week while on my way up north by auto, and spent about an hour enjoying the sights. At the extreme rear of the little wooden building is a small bar, where the thirsty are served, and it may be said that everything runs along smoothly. There is a continuous flow of the liquid over the bar, but not the least sign of disturbance. In one of the front rooms of the hotel a fiddler entertains the visitors with Canadian and American selections and occasionally visitors join in, filling the building with music, melodious and otherwise."

"When I stopped at the Immigration office near the Line-House the government inspector, after filling out the necessary papers, asked me if there were any more automobiles left in Massachusetts, for to him it seemed that Jackson was the rendezvous of all automobile owners of the commonwealth. I had heard so much about Canada since prohibition went into effect that I kept my eyes opened while going through the domain, and to be frank I did not see anything startling. Conditions are not as bad as pictured. Of course, there is a free sale of light beer, alcohol wines, but rum does not pass freely at some claimants. I went through Keeganville into Lewis and thence across the St. Lawrence into Quebec. I journeyed to St. Anne de Beaupre and then went to Montreal, going through the many country towns and I saw very few intoxicated persons en route. While in Quebec I called at the store of former Mayor Lavigne, a former resident of this city, but unfortunately he was out. I returned by way of Napierville, Que., and stopped at the King Edward hotel, where I shook hands with the proprietor, Orla Morin, a former resident of this city, and there also I met a great number of Lowellites. From Napierville I cut across to Rouss Point, N. Y., and thence to Burlington, coming home through Vermont and New Hampshire. The roads through the Jackson route are not very good, but the trip through the Pine Tree state is worth it. In Canada the roads are in excellent condition."

The members of the city government and newspapermen who went to Rye Harbor Monday just to get away from the grind a bit, swapped enough stories to fill a good-sized volume of anecdotes. Some of them are too good to keep under cover and one "pulled" by Mayor Thompson is especially worthy of recognition. As you probably know, the mayor is a lumber operator in private life, and naturally his story had to be about a pair of old lumbermen of Maine who had spent much of their youth "riding" logs down to the saw-mill after they had been felled. In middle life they had taken up less strenuous occupations, but some years later they returned to their old haunts. One of them, "Lem," the mayor called him, couldn't resist the temptation to ride down the stream again with a raft of logs and he told his companion that he bet he could do it just as easily as he did 20 years ago. His cronies told him to "go to it" and Lem mounted the logs and began his journey. About 25 minutes later his friend met him coming up the road, somewhat depressed and damp looking, and asked him what the trouble was.

"Well," said Lem. "I got on those logs all right and was driving them in first rate style. My foot-work was great and I began to feel young again. Then suddenly I heard a splash and when I turned around to see what it was I found it was myself in the water."

It is just about this time of the year that doting parents whose children will begin their school careers in September begin to realize that their offspring must be vaccinated in order to gain admission to school. Then comes the question of who is to do the work, when and where. The family physician, of course, is capable of performing the slight operation necessary or it may be done at the dispensary of the board of health in the basement of city hall where most of the city's children are vaccinated. From now until the middle of September there will be a land office business at the dispensary and in order to prevent much confusion and unnecessary trips downtown, it may be well to emphasize the hours at which vaccination is given at city hall. Every day in the week, except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, there is somebody at the building ready to vaccinate children brought there between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Many people have the impression that the work is done in the morning but that is not so. Only one hour in the afternoon is given over to it.

LABOR UNION MEETINGS

The second annual convention of the International Leather Workers' union of America will be held at Lynn September 7, and the Lowell delegates who will attend the convention are John Hall, Fred Buckley, Joseph Welch, Joseph Labele, Joseph Moran, George Wesson, John Muldoon, Henry Cogrove and Dennis Healey. These delegates were chosen at last evening's meeting of the local branch of the union, which was held in Leather Workers' hall, Central street, in the course of the meeting routine business was transacted.

Other meetings were held last evening by the Barbera' union, the Blacksmiths' union and the Woolen Weavers' union, these meetings being held in Labor union hall, Central street.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

MRS. SQUIRREL'S COMPLAINT

After Tinseling, the fairy landlord, had got his clothes let out (because he was getting so fat) he left Maple Tree Place, taking Nancy and Nick, the twins, along. He had collected all the rents there anyway, and what was the use of him staying? Particularly when there were more rents to be collected in the Land-of-Deer-Knows-Where! "Let me see!" said he, running his finger down his rent list to see who hadn't paid. "Why, I declare, if I hadn't forgotten all about Scramble Squirrel and his wife. I rented them the top story of Hickory-Tree Dwellings, one of the finest apartments the Fairy Queen owns. I mustn't forget to collect from them!" So that's where they all marched next, to Mr. Scramble Squirrel's, the children's Green Shoes making it easy for them to get up the tree. The first thing they saw was Mrs. Squirrel out on a shady branch doing her winter sewing—no, not her spring

Agents dealing in the suits declare that by buying under the present rate of exchange prevailing between Great Britain and Germany it is possible for a man to purchase a new suit each week, and that, over a period of 12 months, the entire cost would be less than the price of one British-made woolen suit.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND

For real enjoyment in a motion picture you should glimpse "Barbarian" at the Strand, which will be featured for the last half of the present week at The Strand, beginning tomorrow afternoon. This is unquestionably the most satisfactory of recent comedy plays, and which has played to hundreds of thousands in the past year. It is described as "sheer nonsense, sheer joy and sheer pajamas in farce," and nobody can give a more concise, a more telling idea of it than to use this statement. It is a Metro picture, and Ruth Stonehouse, an admirable actress, is cast for the wonderfully funny part of the social reporter who did her level best to make the quiet husband into a demon with a long, bad past.

He was nothing of the sort. He was the mildest, meekest, "bestest" husband in the world, and his efforts at trying to prove himself the other way are laughable in the extreme. The central situation deals with Reggie Irving who for many years had sought Angelica for his wife. She had always wanted a man just her opposite—a wild sort of husband. Reggie hadn't the slightest idea how to be wild, and he sought some inside information from Polly Hathaway, the social reporter. Polly did her best to put a black eye on Reggie's reputation, but—what's the use. You're not to catch those wonderful situations, as artistic as anything comedy holds and played with a speed and light touch that will hit the most critical squarely. Miss Stonehouse is the reporter, Eugene Pallante, who was in "Fair and Warner," is her husband. The part of the wife who wanted a very lively husband is played by Kathleen Kirkham. Gladys Brockwell in "A Sister to Salome," a daring exposé of a dual existence, is the added attraction for the last half of the week. A surprise, wholly unlooked for, is locked up in this film drama. The acting is of a quality which quite surpasses the ordinary play, and Miss Brockwell is at her very best.

BELL-ANS
FOR INDIGESTION

Sea Wolf," Jack London's famous story of adventure, will be given at the Merrimack Square Theatre this evening. The other feature is "The Phantom Melody," starring Monroa Salisbury.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Manager Nelson has arranged a strong program of features, "Sherry," taken from George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated novel of the same name, a melodramatic romance of adventure and humor, will be the headliner, and "The Woman God Sent," a story of cultural and factory life, starring Zena Keefe, will be the other feature.

"Sherry" is an Edgar Lewis-Pathe feature, adapted from George Barr McCutcheon's widely read novel of the same name. It is a typically American story of a typically American small town, where everyone takes an interest in everyone else, and either helps him up or kicks him down.

Sherry had been kicked down and out, but he was made of true blue stuff and took keen delight in showing the town gossips that he could not only make good, but clear up a mystery, catch a couple of burglars, and win the most popular girl in town.

As in the case with all of Edgar Lewis-Pathe productions, the story has not been sacrificed to fit the leading part, but the cast interpreting "Sherry" was chosen by Mr. Lewis because each member thereof possessed the qualities necessary to portray its chosen role.

Headling the cast is Pat O'Malley in the title role. Temperamentally, as well as artistically, this rising young actor is an ideal selection. Young O'Malley was born in Dublin, Ireland, and educated in the United States, therefore he can perfectly understand "Sherry," whom George Barr McCutcheon describes as a "young Irish-American, morally clean and generous to a fault."

A comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will round out the bill.

SAVES MILLIONS IN OIL

Uncle Sam's Navy Wins Great Victory in War on Profiteers

BY HARRY B. HUNT
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Uncle Sam's navy has declared war on oil profiteers. Through a contract recently closed by the department with the Cochrane-Harper Co. of Boston, the government, for the first time, will be put in possession of every detail in the cost of producing gasoline and fuel oil and of secret processes followed in oil refining.

With this information the navy and the government will possess indisputable data as to what should be a proper cost for both oil and gasoline and will no longer be at the mercy of greedy oil interests.

One year ago, special navy grade fuel oil cost the government, delivered at Port Arthur, Tex., 53 cents per barrel.

Today the same oil, delivered at the same port, costs the navy—and therefore the public—$2.85 per barrel.

To Learn Why
Gasoline for navy use, which was put on the docks at Galveston in tank wagons and drums at 21½ cents a gallon last year, cost 35 cents on the same docks and in the same containers today.

Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, chief of the navy's bureau of supplies, like to know why prices go up. They like to know how things are made.

It was this inquisitiveness that led Daniels to establish a navy powder plant which demonstrated the government was paying more than 100 per cent. profit on smokeless powder bought from the powder "trust."

The same inquisitiveness developed that the navy was paying double a proper cost for armor plate. The resulting savings on powder and armor plate have amounted to hundreds of millions.

So McDaniels and McGowan decided to find out just the why and wherefore of increasing fuel oil and gasoline costs.

On a request for bids on 5,000,000 barrels of fuel oil, made in March, only bids covering 115,000 barrels were received and at prices from $3.65 to $12.20, depending on points of delivery. All were rejected and new proposals sought.

Inside Knowledge
This time the Cochrane-Harper Co. of Boston, came through with an offer on 3,000,000 barrels, the full capacity of their plant. It was proposed that the company supply the full amount of gasoline derived as a by-product in refining the fuel oil.

Negotiations led to a contract which gives the department its first real insight into the oil industry.

This contract specifies that the company shall instruct specially detailed

THE BOYS IN THE OTHER CAR

BY GROVE

naval officers in every detail of fuel oil and gasoline manufacture.

In this way, for the first time, exact and accurate knowledge of the cost of fuel oil and gasoline manufacture will be put in the hands of the government.

In producing these 3,000,000 barrels of fuel oil, it is estimated 15,722,000 gallons of gasoline will be obtained, of which 8,490,000 gallons will be ordinary motor gasoline, at 20 cents a gallon, and 7,232,000 gallons high-test "gas" at 22 cents. This as against 25 cents now being paid the Standard of New Jersey.

But the navy needs less than 5,000,000 gallons. So it will sell 10,000,000 to other government departments at cost.

Having nailed down the major part of its fuel oil requirements, and having secured an option on the products of an additional 10,000,000 barrels of crude oil on similar terms, the navy was in position to "talk turkey" to other oil concerns which had maintained prices sky-high.

Result: Standard of Louisiana and Texas Co. accepted contracts to supply the 3,000,000 additional barrels of fuel necessary to make up the navy's annual requirements, at prices from 50 to 75 cents under their previous bids.

Saving in Millions
On gasoline alone, the Cochrane-Harper deal nets a saving of $1,580,000 under the low bids received. The direct total saving, when the lower costs of gas to other departments is considered, probably will exceed $2,000,000.

But the big gain is in this: The navy has large oil reserves of its own. Under its latest contract it will obtain the full manufacturing secrets and cost data necessary for opening up a naval refinery of its own, should the greed of private oil interests make that desirable. It will have, in the officers trained at the Boston plant, men qualified to take charge of such a government plant.

Wage conditions at the Merrimack Woolen mill at the Navy Yard, Dracut, were discussed at a meeting of the Amalgamated Woolen and Worsted Weavers' union, which was held last evening in Odd Fellows' hall, Middlesex street, but nothing definite was given for publication. The meeting was presided over by President M. Up a naval refinery of its own, should the greed of private oil interests make that desirable. It will have, in the officers trained at the Boston plant, men qualified to take charge of such a government plant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Richard Lacey, who 50 years ago served several years in Uncle Sam's army fighting Indians in the west, gained readmittance to this country yesterday after having been detained three months at Ellis Island. A bond of $500, furnished by a nephew, removed the possibility of the old Indian fighter's becoming a public charge, and orders were received from Washington allowing Lacey freedom to stay in the United States at least six months.

"Thank God, I shall see America again," commented Lacey, when told that he could enter. "Eleven weeks today I've been here, all the while knocking at the door of the country for which I fought some 50-odd years ago. I hope I can visit some of the scenes of battles we had with the red skins."

Lacey first came to this country when a boy and after completing his term of service in the army returned to Ireland. A few months ago he decided to visit the United States again, but lack of funds caused his detention at Ellis Island until responsible relatives could be found.

STOPPED OVER ON CROSS
CONTINENT TRIP

Ernest C. Foster, a resident of Maine, who is traveling across the country in an odd-looking automobile, arrived in Lowell yesterday afternoon and a few hours later he was booked at the police station for drunkenness. It seems that Foster made a few friends shortly after his arrival, and succeeded in getting a fairly good supply of "moonshine." Of course Foster was thirsty and he did not wait until he had left Lowell to give his stuff the once over with the result that he soon became intoxicated and his actions as well as his machine attracted the attention of passersby and pretty soon Tilden street, where the automobile was standing, was the scene of a large gathering. Shortly after 7 o'clock a telephone call was sent to the station and Sgt. Bigelow and Inspector Walsh were detailed to disperse the crowd and incidentally take Foster to the station. This morning the visitor was released by the probation officer. Foster, who is 38 years of age left the state of Maine a few days ago on an automobile trip from coast to coast and he is traveling in a machine that is built on the same principles as the old-fashioned coach. As soon as he was released from the station this morning he left Lowell.

HUGHES DENOUNCES
ARCHBISHOP MANNIX

MELBOURNE, Aug. 3.—W. A. Hughes, premier of Australia, speaking here today, attacked Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix, who is now on his way from the United States to the British Isles, after having been notified that he would be barred from Ireland by the British government. The premier's speech was virtually a reply to a statement made public in New York city by Archbishop Mannix on July 29, in which he vigorously denounced Mr. Hughes.

"Demonstrations in America favorable to Archbishop Mannix," said Mr. Hughes, "were carefully stage-managed in a manner similar to that pursued in those arranged in Australia, and the people who acclaimed him there were Sinn Feiners, possibly leavened with Bolsheviks or other wild fanatics. Archbishop Mannix does not represent Australia or the Irish or any other question, and is the acknowledged Sinn Fein leader in this country."

"When he arrived in Australia seven years ago," the premier continued, "Australia was freer from sectarian bitterness than any country in the world. Spurred by boundless national ambition and hatred of Great Britain, Archbishop Mannix has fanned the dying embers of religious bigotry into a fierce blaze, gathering around him every fanatic alien and Sinn Feiner in the country. He worked incessantly during the war to prevent recruiting and help the enemy defeat the allies, working great harm to Australia."

Referring to an alleged threat by Archbishop Mannix to "deal with Hughes" upon the prelate's return to Australia, the premier said:

"He may, but, first of all, he has to return."

Red Russia Ripe for Counter Revolt But Stupified People Dare Not Try It

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH, N.E.A. Staff Special

REVAL, Estonia, Aug. 4.—"What keeps the soviet republic going?" asked a clown at a Petrograd circus. His answer was in Russian rhyme:

"Jewish brains, Lettish bayonets, Russian stupidity."

This crack brought down the house. The clown got two weeks in the fortress of Saints Peter and Paul for his temerity.

I often thought of this incident when I was safe out of Russia. There was more, than a medium of truth in the jest.

Terrible Revenge
Led by the clever Jewish brains the workers and peasants of Russia have also taken a terrible revenge on their oppressors—the capitalists and the big landowners.

But the workers and peasants are now heartily sick of the experiment in communism. Russia is now economically wrecked. The proletariat is praying for a change of government in the hope of getting bread.

It is only bayonets and the threats of imprisonment or death that keep the people from openly revolting. Russia is ripe for a counter-revolution. But the people are too stupid, or rather stupefied, as a result of continued starvation, to make a move.

The long and wearisome ride from Moscow to Jamburg I shall never forget. Soldiers guarded all the stations. Soldiers were in all the little wayside towns. They boarded the train every hour or so to examine permits. And all along the 500 miles peasants were beseeching us to give them bread.

It seemed strange, but numerous soviet government officials begged me, almost with tears in their eyes, to help them get to America.

All Want to Get Out
Soviet Red Cross nurses, railroad officials, even some of the commissars on our train of 300 Swiss refugees, everybody in soviet Russia, it seemed, wanted to get out.

Scores of Americans of Russian origin, who gave up their good jobs in the states and flocked back to Russia after the revolution in the hopes of finding a paradise on earth, now find themselves prisoners in a land of famine.

At Jamburg, near the Estonian frontier, the commissar in charge of our food and the Russian commandant of the train were both marched off to the local headquarters of the extraordinary commission between armed guards.

It was rumored that they had been discovered plotting to escape into Estonia. We were sorry for them. Their fate was sealed. All the way from Moscow these two Bolsheviks had been culogizing the beauties and benefits of Bolshevism—camouflage.

Suspicious of Man

I was accompanied all the way from Moscow by a man I believed to be a spy or agent-provocateur. He was thrown in my way the day I was evacuated from the prison of the Vetchalka in Moscow. He pretended to be an Englishman who had been in prison, too. But he looked so uncommonly fat and well that I at once became suspicious.

He seemed particularly anxious to find out what I was going to write when I got out of Russia. And he was always inviting me to hop the train and return to Petrograd. I pretended that my trip had been a failure; that I had seen nothing of consequence. He expressed astonishment when I got over the frontier at seeing me busily taking notes.

"You seem more cheerful now," he said.

"Yes," I answered; "I am now on the safe side of the line." Let me here make a confession. I went to Russia with the friendliest of feelings towards communism. In fact, my intimate friends in New York called me a Bolshevik.

Curse of Bolshevism

I expected to find that "the great 50 per cent" in Russia were comparatively happy, on top. I was quite willing that the 20 per cent, capitalists, exploiters, bourgeois, call them what you will, should suffer if the majority were happy.

I am cured.

But perhaps I was only a parlor Bolshevik, after all. Communism may be a beautiful theory of government. In practice it is a ghastly fiasco. Nobody is happy under it, everybody, both the 80 and the 20 per cent. Is hungry to the point of starvation.

At Jamburg we were held up six

10,000 AT FUNERAL OF CANARY BIRD

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 4.—A crowd, estimated by the police at 10,000 persons, thronged the streets of the city last night to attend the funeral of Jimmie, the pet canary of Emilio Rosomanno, 56 year old cobbler. Police reserves were called out to preserve order and clear the streets for the funeral cortege. Jimmie, described by his owner as possessing a "song as sweet as the voice of Caruso," choked to death Sunday on a watermelon seed.

Leading the procession was a band of 12 pieces, playing funeral dirges, followed by a hearse, bedecked with flowers and carrying a small white coffin in which the bird's body reposed. The old cobbler, tear-stained and visibly affected, rode in a coach with a few intimate friends.

The cost of the bird's funeral, estimated at $400, was contributed by the cobbler's friends. When Jimmie died, the old cobbler drew the blinds of his shop, hung out a sign "Closed on Account of Jimmie's Death," put crepe over his door and went into deep mourning.

A tombstone, in the shape of a cross with a canary bird in its centre, will be erected over the bird's grave near Branch Brook park, the cobbler said.

hours. We were taken about a mile through the woods to an old farmhouse and given a final shakedown by the extraordinary commission. The men were taken into one room and the women into another, where our clothing was searched. Some were stripped. Diamond rings, gold and silver coins and even overcoats were taken away from us. Bolshevik literature we were allowed to keep.

A Grim Joker
And then, later on in the train, as we were approaching the red flag on the barbed wire fence on the frontier, a commissar gravely came into every coach and asked:

"Does anybody want to go back to Russia? This is your last chance." A grim joker, this Bolshevik.

The last few minutes in Russia were anxious moments for all of us. Something might happen to make the Bolsheviks change their minds and send us back to Moscow.

Once over the line everybody commenced to sing. Some prayed—prayers of thankfulness for their safe delivery, I suppose. Others put their heads out of the windows, and looking towards Russia, spat out on the tracks.

Scores Bolsheviks

I was told when I left the states not to editorialize and to write only about things I saw and actually heard. But before I close let me say this:

Bolshevism in the United States must be fought tooth and nail. It is a destructive form of government. It tears down the rich—and pushes the poor further into the mire. Nobody benefits by it.

Must Be Fought

But the spirit of Bolshevism must be fought intelligently. Oppression and the curtailment of free speech won't accomplish anything. The workers of America have honest grievances. These must be righted. Personally, I don't blame them for believing that communism will right all their wrongs. Theoretically, it will.

But no honest man can see Russia, as I have seen it, and come back and wish to have Bolshevism tried out in his own country—that is, if he loves

ONE SHOT DURING ROOF

Boston Policeman, Veteran of War, Beats Off Gang of 30 and Holds Prisoner

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—One man was shot and several received minor injuries during a riot which started on George street, opposite Gerard street, Roxbury, about 9:30 last night, when a crowd of between 20 and 30 young men set upon a police officer, Joseph P. Patenaude, of the Dudley-street station, because he insisted on arresting a member of the gang for assault upon an officer of the law.

The wounded man is Thomas F. Lynch, a soldier, who belongs to the Supply Co., 36th Infantry, Camp Devens. A bullet from the policeman's revolver struck him in the back and tore through his shoulder. He is receiving treatment at the City hospital, where it is said his wound is not particularly dangerous.

War Hero Proves Game as Ever

Patenaude, one of the new police force, a veteran of the world war and holder of the Croix de Guerre for gallantry on the field of battle, proved that his courage is as great as ever. Single-handed and alone he battled with a mob of husky young men and emerged with his man, taking him to the Dudley-street station at the point of his revolver and there booking him as he started out to do.

During the melee Patenaude was badly beaten and pummeled by his assailants, who for a time had him down on his back. The young officer never ceased fighting, however, and finally emerged the victor.

About 9:30 last night Patenaude came upon a group of young men who were standing in a doorway on George street drinking "jakey." He ordered them to move on, and all did so, except Michael Glennon, 23, of 59 George street.

Patenaude took him by the shoulder and urged him out of the doorway, whereupon Glennon swung twice with his fist, striking Patenaude each time. Thereupon the officer placed Glennon under arrest for assaulting an officer of the law.

Knocked Down and Kicked

Then the trouble started. Patenaude and a crowd of between 20 and 30 young men descended upon him or massed, knocking him down and beating and kicking him in blind fury. Patenaude clung to Glennon, however, and fought with all his strength.

Finally, because he was outnumbered to such a degree Patenaude managed to draw his revolver. He struck Glennon over the head with the butt of it, and then, as the crowd was still beating him, he fired two shots, one struck Lynch and the other went wild.

As the shots were fired the men dispersed for the moment, or desisted in their attack on the policeman, still clinging to Glennon. Patenaude struggled to his feet, and his revolver clutched in one hand and holding Glennon, struggling with the other, limped to the station with his prisoner.

His clothes were torn and he was battered and bleeding, but his courage was high and he had his man.

Showered With Missiles

The trip to the station was made under severe difficulties, for the mob followed at a distance, showering the officer and his prisoner with bricks, bottles and sticks—any missiles that came to hand. Patenaude several times told them that he would "wing" anyone he caught throwing anything, but because of the darkness he was unable to catch any of the mob in the act and he therefore held his fire.

Meanwhile a riot call had been sounded and a wagon loaded with policemen was sent out. The wagon went to the scene by one route, while Patenaude and his prisoner took another.

Other, as the reserves found all when they arrived.

Glennon was released in 1916 just before midnight for his appearance in the Roxbury court this morning.

After having his bruises treated, Patenaude returned to duty.

WAS PRESENTED GAVEL

James Whitaker, a resident of Tyngsboro and former national president of the Wool Sorters' union, who recently resigned his position in order to go west for his health, was presented a gavel at the regular meeting of Local 5, Wool Sorters' union last evening. The meeting was presided over by President Herbert Waterhouse and routine business was transacted. Mr. Whitaker is an employee of the Massachusetts Mohair Plush mill.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF WORK

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is still maintaining its soldiers' relief work despite the fact that the armistice has been signed nearly two years. A number of former service men are still suffering from the physical effects of the war and are being taken care of at convalescent homes in East Pepperell and Groton in North Middlesex county. The local chapter of the Red Cross has been asked to use its efforts in securing automobile rides, smokes, games, photographic records, etc., so that the monetary of the men in waiting for their return to health may be relieved. Miss Alice Sullivan of 81 Merrimack street, chairman of civilian relief, would be glad to get in touch with those interested in soldiers' and sailors' welfare.

In order to acquaint the public with the general telephone situation, and some of the reasons for delay in completing new installations—chief among which is the difficulty of getting the numerous kinds of necessary material—we have prepared a series of announcements of which this is the second.

Reserve Telephone Equipment Exhausted

We used to engineer our plant—switchboards, cables, circuits, and all necessary parts thereof—to anticipate by several years the growth of population or manufacturing in any particular place or region. Consequently, we were always able to meet promptly demands for service, no matter how large or unexpected.

Hence, during the war period we were able to give service to a rapidly increasing list of subscribers, although we had little priority consideration as a necessary industry and were compelled by government restriction to abandon our normal programme of advance construction.

When the war ended, however, these reserve facilities had been almost wholly pre-empted by the growing demand. Our usual reserve of central offices, switchboards, power plants, conduits, cables, manholes, pole lines no longer existed. We required rubber, paper, copper wire, lumber, silk, clay, glass, porcelain, paraffin, and many other things not ordinarily associated in the public mind with telephone service, in order to restore our reserves.

Every business man will realize the difficulty experienced in getting some, if not all, of these things. We had to get all, or devise some efficient substitute for those which could not be had.

We have installed more new telephones thus far this year than in any previous similar period of telephone history; and we could have done still more but for the exhaustion of our reserve equipment caused by general conditions of production and transportation. These are showing signs of improvement, however.

Our morale is good. Our people are earnestly desirous of giving good service and of extending it as fast as possible. Although there are many persons to whom we cannot at once give telephone service because of conditions wholly outside our organization, we are determined to meet their desires as soon as it is humanly possible to do so.

CHASE AGAIN ACCUSED LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER OF "THROWING GAMES" HIGH CLASS BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Efforts to sign Hal Chase, former major league first baseman, and Earl Maggert, former Salt Lake City outfielder, will be made by the Lemore club of the San Joaquin Valley Baseball league, a semi-professional organization, it was announced today by League Secretary Wilkinson.

The announcement came as an aftermath to action yesterday by Pacific Coast league officials which resulted in the unconditional release of Maggert from the Salt Lake City club, and the barring of Chase from all coast league parks as the consequence of charges of gambling. "Babe" Boston, first baseman of the Vernon club, was suspended indefinitely by League President W. H. McCarthy.

Soon after league officials announced that Chase had been barred from the league parks, the president of the California Mission league, another semi-professional organization, stated that Chase had been barred from playing further with the San Jose club and that "all interest he has in that club must be forfeited."

Chase had been playing every Sunday with the San Jose team.

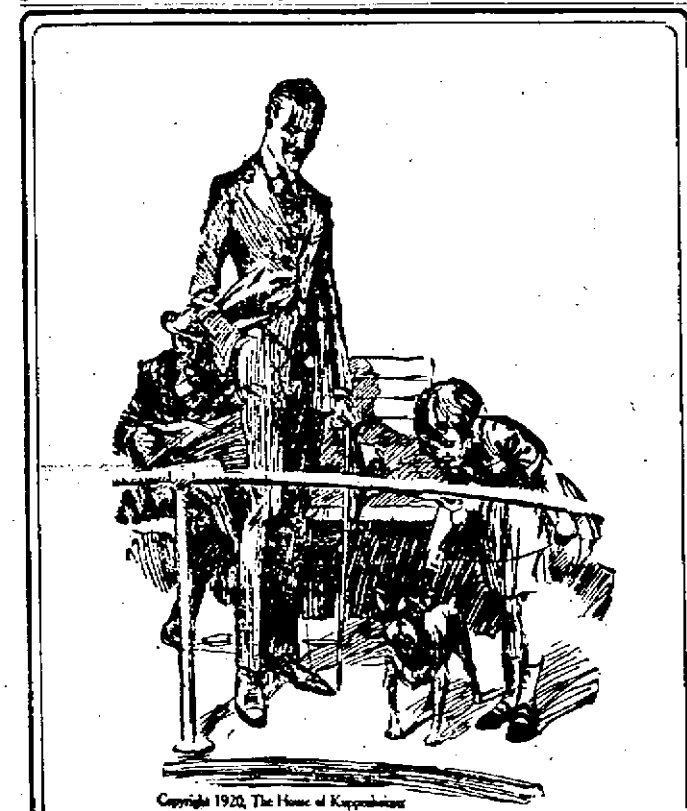

Efforts to locate Chase had failed last night and today Boston denied that he had been connected with an alleged attempt to "throw" games. Maggert likewise denied the charges.

The first indoor boxing program of the season will be staged at the Crescent rink tomorrow night, and in arranging for the resumption of "indoor sports," the management of the local club has secured by a pair of the coast's most prominent middleweights, silent Martin of Berkeley and Frank Carbonne of Bayonne, N. J., are the men to perform in the main event, and in the past records of the pair count for anything, local fans are in for a battle that will compare favorably with the remarkable Murphy-Fitzsimmons bout of last Saturday.

Both Martin and Carbonne have victories over this present champion, Johnny Wilson, to their credit. Other victims on their lists include Tommy Robison, Pat Reed, George Chip, Sui-der Bartheld and many others equally as famous. Both have won Mike O'Dowd, and more than held their own with the aggressive ex-champ.

Matchmaker Eddie Harvey, who presented the Murphy-Fitzsimmons number as his first offering, after taking over the position, avers that the Martin-Carbonne number will be another hummer. Harvey knows boxers and boxing, and he is negotiating for many attractive matches for local fans.

There will be three other bouts tomorrow night, the first going on at 8:15 o'clock.

MARGARET BABY OFFERED FOR SALE, BY MOTHER, FOR $250

NEW YORK—Baby Margaret will not be sold for $250, or any other amount. Her mother, Mrs. Catharin Nulty, advertised the lot "For Sale for $250," but when offers came, she changed her mind. Now Baby Margaret is back with her foster father, James Sweetman. She had previously been given to Sweetman and his wife. Then Mrs. Sweetman died and Margaret was returned to her mother. Mrs. Nulty found the struggle of providing for the little one too difficult. The "for sale" advertisement brought an offer from Mr. Sweetman to care for the child. Margaret's mother is allowed to see her at any time.

The Call'em OPEN TOURNAMENT OVER TWO 18-HOLE LINKS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—For the first time in the history of golf, an open tournament was played today over two 18-hole links on the grounds of the Olympic fields country club, where all the leading professionals contested for the first 36 holes for the open championship of the Western Golf association. Play started at 9 o'clock on both courses and those who played the course No. 1 in the forenoon, used course No. 2 in the afternoon. This arrangement will permit all of the 100 entrants to continue in play during the entire tournament, instead of devoting two days to elimination rounds, as has been the practice.

James Barnes of the Sunset Hill club, St. Louis, who won the championship last year at the Mayfield club, Cleveland, is defending the honor against substantially the same field he defeated there. Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British, who were unable to compete because of exhibition dates.

Among the contestants are two recent arrivals from Europe, Lawrence Aulton of Evanston club, Chicago, paired with Barnes, and Charles Mayo of Edgewater club, Chicago, paired with Walter Hagen, national champion, and twice holder of the western title. Another strong contender is J. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, another British, who won the Canadian championship with a record score last year.

The courses of the Olympic field club are in good condition, although congested with waiting players. It has been used to keep the greens soft enough to grip approaches. The greens are well kept and the fairways are rolling with only one or two holes. The club has a third 18-hole course that can be used for practice.

PAT. McDONALD, STAR SHOT-PUTTER INJURED

ON BOARD THE U. S. PRINCESS MATOIK. Aug. 3. (By wireless to Associated Press).—Patrick J. McDonald of the New York Athletic club, America's leading entrant for the 16-pound shotput at the Olympic games, injured his right thumb today while working with the medicine ball during the practice of the American Olympic team members who are voyaging on this steamer to the games at Antwerp. McDonald's thumb was struck in such a way that the ligaments were strained, and it was feared the injury may affect his work in the shotput in the Olympic stadium.

A two-hour run by the marathon race entrants was the feature of the routine training of the squad today.

Foggy weather is retarding the progress of the Princess Matoika, but the trainers of the team are still hoping she will reach Antwerp in time to admit of a tryout for the men on Saturday.

WORLD'S RECORD American Boy Scouts Win at "Jamboree"

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A team of American Boy Scouts from Miami, Fla., at the International Boy Scouts "Jamboree" today won the world's record in treck competition. Eight of the American youths competing against a similar team of British boys, won by overcoming a two-wheeled treck loaded with eight sandbags weighing a total of 200 pounds in 13 minutes and 30 seconds. The British team took more than four minutes to accomplish the task.

DECISION IN MISKE-DEMPSEY BOUT

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Jack Dempsey will run the risk of losing his heavyweight championship title by a referee's decision, when he fights Billy Miske at St. Paul at Benton Harbor, Mich. Labor day, unless present plans go astray.

Under the Michigan law decision bouts are permissible when sanctioned by the state boxing commission and promoted by a promoter. Floyd Fitzsimmons announced today that he had received assurances from the commission that a decision would be allowed.

SHARKEY-MARTIN BOUT CALLED DRAW

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The Jack Sharkey-Terry Martin bout here last night ended in a draw after one of the most stubbornly contested fights between bantamweights seen in a Boston ring in many years.

At Belmont refereed and, like the fighters, he flitted the bill to perfection and handled the men in a style.

The closest of each boxer finished out round after round made it next to impossible to pick a winner and leave a good taste. There are some who will say that Martin's face and better of the fight and others can advance good reason why Sharkey was entitled to the verdict.

However, it was taken another battle between the little warriors to decide the better man and if they ever do meet again there will be double the interest.

There was little to be desired in the contest. There was action and plenty of free hitting in each round, excepting the last when the fighters were tired.

Both boxers seemed bent on crushing in the other's ribs, their attack being in that direction most of the time. Martin was a little better getting started and allowed Sharkey to take a slight lead in the first two rounds, but he more than made up by cutting the New Yorker's head out of the picture in the third session.

Sharkey started to increase his advantage in the first minute of the third but Terry was finished by a terrific left jab to the face and nose. Sharkey's face and nose bore evidence of the hard usage and punches it stopped, while his head was whirling and he was unable to stand up. Sharkey was pumped into him for more than 10 seconds before the bell rang. The spirited miller then the fans into a frenzy of excitement and the boxers were given a royal reception as they took their corners.

Sharkey was a little shaky coming out for the fourth, but before he finished he pulled up even with the sturdy Providence boxer. Both often forgot all about their skill, wading in and out of the ring and even in the end there were rounds that one scored better, but the only ones that stood out saliently were the third and tenth.

Jack Martin won by a comfortable margin. Sharkey received a right harder to Martin's body, while the latter scored an equal number of lefts on his opponent's head and face. Martin never was in lead position during the contest, while Sharkey was plainly in distress twice.

Cleveland, O., was the site of the first agricultural college in the United States.

BAKER PRAISES K. OF C.

Announces Gen. Allen to Represent U. S. at Dedication of Lafayette Statue

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—General Allen, commanding the American army of occupation in Germany, has been designated as the representative of the United States government at the dedication of the Knight of Columbus statue of General Lafayette at Metz, on Aug. 31. A telegram to this effect from Secretary of War Baker was read at this morning's session of the Knights' annual convention. Mr. Baker congratulated the organization for its "splendid work."

A detailed report as to what the Knights of Columbus did with the $25,769,935.23 collected for welfare work during the war, was made to the convention by the supreme board of directors.

A total of $21,516,467.70 was spent on camp, community, and employment activities in this country and $5,356,400 in foreign countries. Educational work, exclusive of college scholarships and including only actual accomplishments to June 30, 1920, cost $1,791,535. The directors reported that a total of $7,000,000 remains for other educational work after accounting for nearly $5,000,000 which has been devoted to scholarships. Low overhead charges, the report said, had allowed the Knights to continue their program without resorting to another campaign for funds.

The report, outlining plans for Knights of Columbus schools opening in September, said 37 courses will be offered to students and it is expected 500 units will ultimately be established. In conclusion, the report promised that welfare work will be continued as long as former soldiers demand it. During the past year employment was provided for more than 350,000 veterans.

ECONOMIC WAR IN IRELAND NEAR

DUBLIN, Aug. 4 (By the Associated Press).—Indications of an outbreak of economic war between north and south Ireland are increasing as a result of the expulsion of Catholic workmen from shipyards and other industrial concerns in the north by the Protestant fellow workmen. It is thought in some quarters that this will be the next move to add to the already great embarrassments of the country. Some western towns already are threatening a boycott against Belfast goods, it is said, and there is danger of this policy spreading into other trades, including the banking system which hitherto has been one of the few bonds between the north and south. Under especially tense conditions, as much of the capital which supports northern industries comes from the south.

The Irish Times points out that such a boycott is quite practical, as southern and western Ireland are more bitterly organized now than at any other time in their history. "The boycott," says the newspaper, "would inflame political strife and would cripple many departments of industry. It would prove that the rest of Ireland cannot dispense with Belfast any more than Belfast for all its pride, and self-dependence, can dispense with the rest of Ireland."

BIG DROP IN POTATO PRICES

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Potatoes have taken a sudden drop in the local retail market. They were wholesaling to dealers yesterday as low as 50 cents a peck, a price which means, according to market experts, that they should not be retailed at more than 60 or 65 cents.

A tour of the local retail market yesterday revealed such incongruities as signs of "Potatoes 11 a peck" and others reading "73 cents a peck" directly across the street. The answer to this, the experts explain, is that many dealers were caught with large supplies of potatoes on their hands which they had purchased at high prices.

Two weeks ago potatoes were selling at $13 a barrel. Now they can be bought for as low as $5. There is every prospect that they will go lower before the summer is over.

In the early part of the 19th century Boston used to celebrate Armistice day a week after a new governor was elected.

DEATHS

DOHERTY—Mrs. Josephine M. Doherty died at the Piles hospital, Portland, Me., yesterday after a week's illness. Sen. Harding Talks on League at home," and added that "if America can be made to forget the attempted harter of nationality, well and good," but that "when nationality is surrendered to internationalism, little else matters, and all appeal is vain."

The address was delivered to a delegation of Wayne county, Ohio, republicans.

Taking up the League of Nations, Senator Harding declared it to be his other extreme to a referendum on a proposed declaration of war. "I emphatically agree," he said, "that no authority other than congress may call our boys to battle. Accepting this truth, why make a covenant which violates the good faith of nations?"

"Suppose," he continued, "that under Article X a program of armed force is agreed upon, and the congress of the United States declines to respond. The executive would be called upon to carry on a war without constitutional authority or we should prove our compact no more than a scrap of paper. We are on the side of both safety and honor to hold for ourselves the decision of our obligations to the world."

Senator Harding's address, in part, follows:

"You must be confidently and fearlessly American to measure to the renowned name of Wayne. The story of Wayne county is that of the great beginning of the northwest territory, whose sturdy civilization our obligations are to preserve and defend. Some day I hope we shall fittingly commemorate the sacrifices and the achievements of these courageous frontiersmen and their strong-hearted women."

"It is worth remembering that the pioneers—these stalwart makers of America—were little less varied in their origin than our people of today. Either they or their forebears came from lands across the sea. But they were thinking only of America. There was more than sole allegiance to the land of adoption, they were interested and devoted heart and soul. They were in complete union with one purpose, one confidence, one pride."

"When I sat on the senate committee on foreign relations and listened to American delegations appealing in behalf of kinsmen or old home folks across the seas, I caught the aspirations of nationality, and a perfectly natural sympathy among kindred in this republic. But I little realized then how we might rend the concord of American citizenship in our seeking to solve old world problems."

"There have come to me, not at all uncommonly, the expressed anxieties of Americans foreign-born, who are asking our country's future attitude on territorial awards in the adjustment of peace. They are Americans all, but they have a proper and natural interest in the fortunes of kinsfolk and native lands. One cannot blame them. If our land is to settle the envious, rivalries, jealousies and hatreds of all civilization, these adopted sons of the republic want the settlement favorable to the land from which they came."

"The misfortune is not alone that it tends the concord of nations, the greater pity is that it tends the concord of our citizenship at home. It is folly to think of blending Greek and Bulgarian, Italian and Slovak, or making any of them religiously American when the land of adoption sits in judgment on the land from which they came."

"Governor Coolidge spoke the other day of the rescue of America from the reactions of war. We also need to be rescued from the visionary and fruitless pursuit of peace through supergovernment. I do not want Americans of foreign birth making their party alignments on what we mean to do

WANT LEVIATHAN AS STEERAGE LINER

NEW YORK, August 3.—A Leviathan that the giant steamship Leviathan, formerly the Hamburg-American liner Vaterland, which for more than a year has been lying idle at her Hoboken dock, be used to transport steerage passengers to and from Italy without restoring her former palatial cabin accommodations, was recently made to the United States. Shipping board, it was learned here yesterday.

The proposal, it was said, came from a shipping firm now engaged in an extensive business of handling third class passengers, but was not favorably received by the board.

The big ship as she now stands could be used with but little alteration of her present troop transport facilities for steerage passengers, and it was said that she could accommodate more than 5000 persons each voyage.

Demand for third-class accommodations now exceeds the available tonnage. The proposal to use the ship, it is understood, was on a charter basis.

TO OFFER FREEDOM OF CORK TO ARCHBISHOP

CORK, Aug. 4.—A resolution urging that the landing of Archbishop Mannix, of Australia, in Ireland be signalled by bonfires and general illuminations next Saturday night and that meetings of protest be held against what is described as "an act of British tyranny and an insult to a great Catholic prelate," was passed at a joint meeting of the Cork urban district council and the Cork city Sinn Fein executives yesterday.

It was announced at the end of the meeting that the freedom of Cork for Archbishop Mannix would be proposed at a meeting of the Cork corporation Friday.

HULTMAN NAMED TO SUCCEED SHERBURNE

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Eugene Hultman of Quincy, was appointed by Governor Coolidge today chairman of the commission on the necessities of life to succeed Brig. Gen. John H. Sherburne, resigned.

Mr. Hultman is connected with the engineering department of the Boston Elevated Railway. He was formerly a state senator.

Chester I. Campbell of Quincy was named chairman of the commission to consider the advisability of holding a celebration in or near Boston of the Pilgrim Tercentenary in 1921.

REPORT ATTY. GEN. PALMER TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Attorney-General Palmer will resign his office within a few days, according to current rumors. Two members of his staff have resigned since the Frisco convention, and it is expected that the resignation of the attorney-general will be handed in shortly, together with the resignations of other members of his staff.

Rumor has it that in the resignations to be offered is that of Robert Scott, who was formerly assistant attorney-general, later manager of Mr. Palmer's San Francisco headquarters and now his private secretary.

52 MURDERS IN NEW YORK SINCE JAN. 1

NEW YORK, August 4.—Fifty-two murders have been committed in New York city during the seven months since January 1, setting a homicide record unparalleled in many previous years, it was stated last night at the district attorney's office.

The death list includes the mysterious murder of Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and whist expert. In the six convictions returned to these cases, none has been for murder in the first degree. Indictments have been returned in 22 cases. In 16 of the 52 murders, no arrests have been made.

New Evidence in Billerica Murder Britain Sends Sharp Note to Russia

Counsel for Convicted Murderer Produces Affidavit Placing Crime on Condemned Man's Brother

SAYS FRANCISCO FECI INNOCENT

Fellow Prisoner of Third Man in Murder Case Makes Statement

Declares Cordio Told Him That Luigi Feci Killed Soulis

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Governor Coolidge today heard counsel for Francisco Feci on his plea for executive clemency and commutation of sentence on the ground of new evidence. Feci was convicted of the murder of Louis Fred Soulis at Billerica and condemned to die in the electric chair at Charlestown state prison the week of Aug. 15. The governor's council attended the hearing, unofficially, to hear the claim for clemency.

Vincent Brogan, counsel for Feci, produced an affidavit from Harmond I. McKnight, who had been in prison with Feci at East Cambridge.

McKnight, in his affidavit, claimed that Joseph Cordio, who was tried with Feci and with Feci's brother, Luigi Feci, talked with him just prior to the trial.

Cordio, McKnight stated in his affidavit, asked him for advice and that he promised it to him if he would tell him the whole truth about the murder. McKnight said that Cordio told him everything.

Luigi Murderer

Cordio said, continues McKnight in his affidavit, that Luigi was the man who committed the murder and that he, Cordio, was an eye witness. Cordio said that he took Luigi Feci in his automobile to the place of the murder and waited for him to do the job.

He said that Luigi Feci went to Francisco Feci's home after he had disposed of the body, changed his clothes, hat and shoes, and left his coat with the revolver in it, in Francisco's room. It was the same revolver, he said, with which he did the shooting. Cordio said that he then took Luigi Feci into his automobile and gave him a start to get away.

Cordio further stated, he said, that Francisco Feci had no dealings with the murdered man, but that Cordio did. He said that Cordio had trouble with Soulis over real estate.

Before and After
McKnight in his affidavit further states that Cordio told him before the trial that Feci would be acquitted and that he would also be acquitted himself as the government did not have the necessary evidence to convict them. When Cordio returned to the jail, according to the affidavit.

WILSON BLOCKS W. U.

Must Get Permit From State Dept. Before Landing Cable on American Soil

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(By Associated Press).—President Wilson is understood to have issued orders to both the army and navy departments not to permit the Western Union Telegraph Co. to land on American soil a cable line from the Barbadoes, until permission has been obtained from the state department. Construction of the cable from the Barbadoes end is said to have been started.

The proposed cable line, it was said here would extend to Miami, Fla., and would establish direct communication between the United States and South America, eliminating the existing relay at the Barbadoes station in British territory. Complaints of unnecessary delay in messages passing through Barbadoes are reported to have been made by American firms dealing with South America.

Application for permission to lay the cable has been made to the state department by the Western Union Co., but so far as could be learned today, it had not yet been acted upon. Officials of the department declined to discuss the matter.

Military Experts Say Warsaw Will Have to be Evacuated Within Few Days

Government May Be Moved to Cracow—Hope of Poles Making Stand Abandoned

PARIS, Aug. 4.—(By Associated Press).—Warsaw will have to be evacuated within two or three days, in the opinion of the French and British military experts there, and the government is expected to be moved within that period, probably to Cracow.

The report of the members of the military mission, telegraphed here last night, declared that the Polish army along the River Bug, had retreated so precipitately that it did not even destroy the bridges behind it. This river was Warsaw's last line of defense.

A special Russian cavalry corps, the military men reported, was driving southwest along the border of the Allenstein district and had yesterday reached a point 30 miles

Press the "Lever that Moves the World," Says Supreme Court Justice

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The press is "the lever that moves the world as no other earthly power could move it," said Supreme Court Justice Fawcett in Brooklyn today, when he continued his preliminary injunction granted in favor of a Brooklyn newspaper, restraining Mayor Hylan from banning from the reporters' well in the board of estimate chamber, a representative of the paper with whom he had had a difference.

"The press should not be hampered while in the lawful pursuit of gathering news, or interfered with while honestly disseminating really important information for its readers," Justice Fawcett ruled.

HELD DANCE HALL HEARING

Petitioners and Remonstrants Are Heard by the License Commissioners

Remonstrants Declare That Dance Hall on Boulevard Would Constitute Nuisance

Several hundred people attended the hearing held in the police court room in Market street last evening on the petition of Bechard Bros. and Lirette Bros. for a license to conduct a public dance hall on the Pawtucket boulevard and a couple of hundred others, who were unable to gain admittance because of lack of room, remained in the hallway while the arguments were presented to the license board. Hon. Dennis J. Murphy and D. J. Donahue appeared for the petitioners, while Francis M. Qua represented the remonstrants. The hearing opened at 8.05 o'clock with the three license commissioners present, Chairman Hanson being in the chair. At the request of Mr. Donahue, Clerk Flaherty of the commission read the opinion recently submitted by the city solicitor, placing the responsibility of granting or refusing the license upon the license board, and petitions bearing names of residents of Pawtucketville, who are opposed to the granting of the license were presented, while the petitioners also brought forward petitions signed by other residents of the district, who are in favor of the proposition. The petitioners were requested to present their case first, but Mr. Mor-

DEMANDS YES OR NO ANSWER

British Government Irritated Over Soviet Russia's Attitude on Armistice

Demands Reply to Suggestion to Halt Hostilities and Open Peace Negotiations

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The British government is irritated over what it believes is Soviet Russia's equivocation over the British suggestion that the Russians halt at the armistice line of demarcation in Poland and begin peace negotiations. It has dispatched a sharp note to the Soviet government demanding a yes or no answer as to whether that government intends to listen to the suggestion.

The note, it is reported, contains no threats and is not in the nature of an ultimatum, simply requesting a quick answer as to what Soviet Russia intends to do.

What was regarded here as the ominous silence of Warsaw, so far as official messages were concerned, was broken today, but the despatches contained little to indicate what was going on.

The question whether the proposed peace conference in London shall be abandoned, is said to be conditional on Russia's reply. One of the chief subjects for discussion at the conference, was to be the Russo-Polish peace, and the last British note points out that if the Soviet government decides to make peace with Poland direct, then one of the main reasons for the London conference is removed.

Leo Kamenoff, president of the Moscow soviet, who came to England to engage with the other soviet delegates in the proposed negotiations over the resumption of trade with Russia, has been here three days without having been received by any British official.

Prefers Peace at Home Than Command International Peace of All the World

Says League Other Extreme to Referendum on Proposed Declaration of War

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Declaring appeals to classes as a menace second only to surrender of nationality to internationalism, Senator Harding, in his second front porch presidential campaign speech today, declared that if he could choose but one, he would "rather have industrial and social peace at home than command the international peace of all the world."

He asserted it would be unwise for this country to permit "our activities in seeking for peace in the old world to blind us to the essentials of peace

Lowell and Haverhill Firemen Cross Bats on Textile School Campus

With a large crowd of rooters from Haverhill and a number of local officials present, the Lowell and Haverhill fire department baseball teams lined up on the textile school campus in Moody street this afternoon in the third and deciding contest of their series.

At the time of their previous visit here for the first game, the downriver firefighters copped a 5-4 victory but when Lowell traveled to Haverhill a few weeks ago the tables were turned and Lowell won. Today's game was to decide the series.

Following the game a luncheon was to be served and informal exercises carried out at the Westford street fire house.

HAD RHEUMATISM FORTY YEARS

Unable to Bend Knees—
Claims Var-ne-sis Removed Every Sign of Disease

"I have suffered from rheumatism since I was 23 years of age. I am now 75. Of course, I thought there was no help for me, each year I grew worse, until finally it got so bad that I had to be assisted in rising from a chair. I was unable to bend my knees and could not open or close my hands, as the fingers were swollen from a chalky deposit." So said Mrs. S. E. Smith of 60 Lynnfield Street, Lynn, Mass.

"At times I was confined to my bed, unable to lift my head from the pillow or turn over without assistance. It seemed as though every joint in my body was involved, and the pain through my hips was almost unendurable.

"So many people had been helped through Var-ne-sis that I decided to try it, although I had very little faith that it would benefit me very much. I secured the medicine and started to take it faithfully, and after several months I could see a decided change in my condition; by continuing the treatment every sign and symptom left me, even the hard swelling on the finger joints disappeared. It seems almost incredible that a woman who has had the disease so long could recover. I consider it almost miraculous, but will be glad to answer any letters pertaining to my case."

Var-ne-sis is a vegetable remedy that has been remarkably successful in chronic cases of rheumatism, particularly in those cases that have been treated with the ordinary remedies month after month without results.

The time to take Var-ne-sis is NOW. Don't suffer another day. Get it at your druggists. In liquid or tablet form. You ought to read "The Rust of Human Hinges." Send for it today to W. A. Varney, Lynn, Mass. It's free.

All the buyers are back from Europe now and here is what they learned about hats: Small hats and medium ones with the turn-up across the face are models still in the running and those with brims that slope down all around and then have a narrow straight edge in addition are especially favored, as note the two May Smith hats illustrated.

It's the material that is going to count most this fall in hats, and in these there is a tendency to reproduce the skins of animals. After that, there are embroideries in strange patterns and ornaments of odd device; many of which appear symbolic.

LABOR LEADER BACKS SEN. HARDING

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Senator Harding held a conference yesterday with T. V. O'Connor, Buffalo, president of the International Longshoremen's association, at which the labor situation was discussed generally and the candidate was assured of the support of the labor leader.

A statement issued by Mr. O'Connor after the conference said in part:

"I am for Senator Harding because I believe a change of administration absolutely necessary to restore confidence in this country. I know Senator Harding is a real man from whom a labor will always get a square deal without any blare of trumpets or brass bands.

"I have heard a good deal of various leaders that are going to deliver the labor vote this year, but I want to say that nobody will deliver it. Labor is thinking as never before, and is going to vote to suit itself. In 1916 I was away from home and lost my vote but if I had been there I would have voted for Wilson. But the democratic party has since then lost its claim for confidence of the country. We must restore popular confidence in our government in order to put an end to the unrest that exists. The fact is that the world was in a bad scrape and if the United States does not keep its feet on the ground the world can't.

"I deal with all the nationalities except Asiatics, in our organizations and I know that there is a general desire to get away from entanglements with European concerns. There is a good deal of apprehension among the men, last conditions which they observe in Europe may reach here. They are determined to avoid anything of that kind if they can.

"It seems very plain to me that labor must support the republican party this year. If the democrats should win, the government would be turned over to the control of the solid south and the machine-dominated democrats of the north. The solid south will be the dominant partner and the south has been utterly reactionary in its attitude toward labor. It is completely out of step with modern attitudes toward such questions as women in industry, child labor, limited hours of labor, employers' liability and the like.

"Former Senator Bailey is campaigning for the nomination for governor of Texas, with the open shop as his platform. I have never asked the absolute closed shop, but I certainly could not assent to the view that the southern democracy takes of the problems of labor."

Science now puts forth the theory that the sense of sight is an electrical phenomenon.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—With summer revels at their maddest and merriest New York has been wearing fall hats for weeks. From the first of July, it has been practically impossible to buy a fresh-looking summer straw.

The members of the Millinery association seem to be divided among themselves on the question, and not just quite sure, whether, in the long run, it is an advantage or a disadvantage to their trade to have the dear women overlapping the seasons in the matter of hats. One of the members advocates that all summer hats should be bought between June 21 and Sept.

TURKS LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST GREEKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 3 (By the Associated Press).—Turkish nationalist forces opened a bitter offensive against the Greeks along a 60-mile front in Asia Minor on Monday. The battle line extends along the Bagdad railroad westward from Kutahia to Simav.

Greek forces in Anatolia are being reinforced from Thrace, and, in conjunction with British detachments, have advanced eastward from Ismid to Adabascir. The impulsion is growing here that the Greeks and British will counter against the Turkish action in the Smyrna district with movements of their forces through Anatolian and Black Sea ports, thus taking railroads and occupying all strategic points.

Izzet Pasha, former grand vizier, has been commissioned by the sultan's government to go to Ankara and attempt to reconcile the nationalists.

Desperate attacks against Greek forces which had advanced beyond their area of occupation were made on Sunday by the nationalists at Simav, about 10 miles northeast of Smyrna. The action lasted 24 hours and the Greeks were obliged to retreat, having lost 50 dead and 100 wounded. They were not pursued.

A Practical Prescription For Sour, Acid Stomach

Nine-tenths of all cases of stomach trouble nowadays are caused by too much acid. In the beginning the stomach itself is not diseased but if this acid condition allowed to continue, the acid is very likely to eat into the stomach walls and produce gastritis with stomach ulcers. This may render a radical surgical operation necessary even to prolong life. Therefore, an "acid stomach" is really a dangerous condition and should be treated seriously. The excess acid or stomach hyperacidity can easily be neutralized by Bisurated Magnesia taken in teaspoonful doses in a glass of water after each meal. Larger quantities may be used if necessary as it is absolutely harmless. Be sure to ask your druggist for the pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for this purpose.—Adv.

Held Dance Hall Hearing

phy objected, claiming that the remonstrants should be heard first. Mr. Hanson ruled that the petitioners would be heard first, saying he had received the opinion of several local attorneys on the matter. Commissioner Putnam said he was a member of the legislature for five or six years and as far as he could remember petitioners were always heard first at hearings, and Mr. Murphy replied that one must not be guided by the doings of the legislature. Mr. Murphy said the petitioners had presented their request and had nothing further to say and, accordingly, Mr. Qua opened the remonstrants' case, calling attention to the fact that Pawtucketville was unanimous in its objection. He said there were three reasons for the objections; first, that the residents of the district don't want the dance hall; second, that its establishment and opening would constitute a nuisance, and third that it would stand as a menace to the morals of the community. He also stated that a dance hall in that locality would be injurious to the Lowell General hospital.

Mr. Qua then stated the remonstrants were Rev. A. G. Lyon, Harry J. Trevod, representing the residents of Pawtucketville; Cornelius F. Cronin, representing the Pawtucketville Memorial association; the Colburn Union mission, the Pawtucket Congregational church, the Lowell General hospital, the medical staff of the hospital and Dr. H. L. Leland, director of the genito-urinary clinic of the city. He called as the first remonstrant, Larkin T. Trull, one of the trustees of the Lowell General hospital, who said: "I appear here as one of the trustees of the hospital, who are much concerned about this petition and who will ask you not to grant it. We have no personal interest, and appear here as interested residents of Lowell and trustees of the hospital. One thing essential for the conduct of a hospital is quietness, and that is going to be our main argument against the dance hall. We have donated large sums of money because we are isolated and the location of the hospital was selected because it was isolated. It is not very material that we have a dance hall, but it is essential that we have hospitals and that they be protected."

A. G. Pollard, chairman of the board of trustees of the hospital, said the hospital is one of the best known institutions of its kind in the state. It has received numerous substantial donations and it has been managed by a board of trustees composed of some of the best residents of this city. The board of trustees, he said, at a recent meeting, voted unanimously against the granting of the license and in behalf of the trustees he wished to enter a protest.

Questioned by Mr. Donahue, Mr. Pollard said he did not know the distance between the site of the proposed dance hall and the hospital and when asked if the distance would have some effect, he replied in the affirmative. He said he would not object to the dance hall if there were no noise.

Miss Bertha W. Allen, superintendent of the hospital for the past four years, said she was enjoying her vacation in Maine when she heard about the hearing and came to Lowell for the sole purpose of filing her protest. She argued that during her four years at the hospital the noise on the boulevard had disturbed the patients to such an extent that on some occasions the police were appealed to. In closing, she said: "I protest against the granting of the license in behalf of the sick of Lowell."

Dr. G. Forrest Martin said: "We cannot magnify too strongly the merits of the Lowell General hospital." On various occasions, he said, patients have been disturbed by the noise from the municipal bath house, but no objection has been raised because the bath house works for the good of the community. With the dance hall, he said, there is going to be noise in quantity and quality. With a jazz band at the hall the patients will not hear music but noise, disturbing noise, which will prevent sleep. Referring to the financial end of the case, the doctor said there is a million and a quarter invested in the hospital and its buildings, while the income of a half-million goes for service in Lowell. "I also protest on the ground that this dance hall if located there will be but the beginning of a midway, which will be worse than the dance hall. I want to protest with all the vigor there is in me."

Rev. A. G. Lyon, pastor of the Pawtucket church, said the residents of Pawtucketville were not opposed to dance halls or dances, but they were opposed to the erection of a particular dance hall in a particular district. He said the opposition did not represent a fight between nationality or creed, for Catholics and Protestants in Pawtucketville are united in one common cause, the welfare of their district. He said in a recent interview with Rev. P. J. Hally, pastor of St. Columba's church, the latter stated there was no demand for a dance hall in Pawtucketville. "I have no animosity against anyone," continued Mr. Lyon, "and I want to see programs come to Lowell, but we feel the dance hall will be a harm to the people of Pawtucketville. Let a dance hall be operated in a public place and not in an isolated district. If the dance hall license is granted it will be an invitation to lower rate, white slavers and others to operate on the boulevard."

Others who spoke against the granting of the petition were Rev. A. W. Shaw of St. Anne's church and A. K. Whitcomb, representing the Federation of Churches; Samuel G. Leinham, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Cowdry, Mrs. Kelly and Cornelius F. Cronin. Dr. Harold L. Leland, director of the city genito-urinary clinic said one-third of the acute cases of disease which come before him for treatment date their acquisition to the time of visits to public dance halls and isolated spots along the boulevard, and as director of this clinic he remonstrated against the granting of the license.

Mr. Qua then presented the following argument:

"We undertook to show you that there are three grounds for refusing the petition for a dance hall on the boulevard. The grounds for objection are namely, that the residents of Pawtucketville don't want the dance hall, that its establishment and opening would constitute a nuisance and that it would stand as a menace to the morals of the community. I would call your attention to the character of the audience. They are no business competitors of the petitioners; they have no axe to grind, they are the people of the homes of Lowell, of all walks of life, of all creeds, all nationalities. Their cause is the cause of their homes and a most important one."

"The traffic problem is another phase of the matter. The Pawtucket boulevard is heavily trafficked now and to this has often borne testimony by the accidents which have occurred there. The danger of congestion would be greatly increased with a dance hall erected there, what with the constant running back and forth between dance hall and bath house."

"We would not have you think that we are opposed to dancing or to public dance halls. With the proper location the public dance hall provides good amusement, but this is not the proper location. There are certain persons of vicious and criminal tendencies who would frequent the place and make it unsafe for the young girls of Lowell. Furthermore, the young people on the bathing beach, scantily clad, would be subject to the seductive strains from the jazz band. Again it is home loving interests that ask your protection, gentlemen, by denying the petition just presented."

Mr. Murphy, speaking in behalf of the petitioners, said a question of this kind should be approached without hysteria and without the creation of a lot of bogies. "I am as much concerned in the morality of Lowell as any previous speaker," he said, "and I am satisfied that the Pawtucketville association did not take means before to do away with the evils which they claim exist in their district. If dancing is a detriment to the sick people why is the hospital conducting dances within its walls? The trustees of the hospital objected to the erection of a contagious hospital on the Chase land, but, nevertheless, the hospital was erected in that district. The speaker then made reference to dances that are being conducted in St. Anne's parish house and to the proposed dance hall that is being contemplated by the chamber of commerce on the South common. He also referred to the carnival recently conducted in Centralville by the Pawtucketville Memorial association, saying it was of the kind that should not have been tolerated by the police. At this point Mr. Lyon interrupted, but Mr. Murphy requested him to sit down and extend to the speakers the same courtesy that was extended him. Continuing Mr. Murphy stated that the sound of music at the dance hall will be thrown on the river by a sounding board. He also referred to the distance to the hospital being 1154 feet and asked the commissioners to consider the money invested in the hall by the petitioners. In closing he said, "If moral conditions are being threatened, then do not grant the license."

Louis T. Bechard, one of the petitioners, said the permit for the erection of the dance hall was granted June 21 by the commissioner of public property and he waited until July 1 before beginning operations on the new building. He argued that the remonstrants had plenty of time to file their protests before the work on the construction of the building was started.

Dr. Martin then explained that two dances were conducted at the hospital by the nurses and this was on the occasion of the graduation of a class of nurses and the opening of a new building. He said the hospital conducted other dances at St. Anne's parish house and at the Veaspeer dance hall, but all dances were properly chaperoned. At this point adjournment was taken and the chairman of the board announced the matter would be taken under advisement.

New Railroad Rates Effective Aug. 26

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The American traveling public and American shippers may expect to begin paying the increased passenger fares and freight rates authorized by the interstate commerce commission, Aug. 26, representatives of the railroads announcing today that it was planned to put the new rates into effect on that date. The increased rates, in the opinion of internal revenue bureau officials and others connected with the collection of federal taxes, will increase government revenues approximately $100,000,000 a year.

Tobacco Co. Declares Dividend

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The American Tobacco Co., today announced a dividend of three per cent in scrip, payable to both classes of common stock of record Aug. 14. The scrip will bear interest at 8 per cent and will be distributed Sept. 1, and may be transferred into common stock on March 1, 1923. On May 5, the company declared a 5 per cent quarterly dividend in cash which had been the prevailing earning of this security for nearly a year.

Reopen American Woolen Co.'s Mill

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Aug. 4.—Announcement was made here today that the Saranac mill of the American Woolen Co., North Smithfield, closed since July 10, would reopen in part next Monday morning. The dry finishing and weaving departments will be the departments to start. No mention is made of the other departments.

$1,000,000 Fire Near Dayton, Ohio

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 4.—Bradford, a railroad center northwest of this city, was wiped out by fire early today, entailing a loss of $1,000,000, according to reports received here. All wire communication with the town, of 2000 population, is down.

Public Bequests of $125,000 in Walker Will

SALEM, Aug. 4.—Public bequests totalling more than $125,000, many of them to churches, hospitals and charitable institutions in Detroit and in Walkerville, Ont., are made in the will of James W. Walker of Detroit, filed here today. Mr. Walker died recently at his summer home at Magnolia. To St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., is given $5000.

COX UNABLE TO ATTEND

Will Not be Present at Roosevelt Notification at Hyde Park

DAYTON, O., Aug. 4.—Governor Cox, democratic presidential candidate, will be the guest of honor today, and deliver an address at the annual picnic of the Gem City Democratic club of this city at Shiloh, about 10 miles north of Dayton. The governor said he did not expect to discuss national politics, but would deal principally with reminiscences of his state career.

The governor spent yesterday close to his desk at his newspaper office here, trying to reduce piles of unanswered correspondence. He also considered further aid toward ratification of the women suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature. Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the women's bureau of the democratic national committee, has reported, the governor said, that prospects for ratification in Tennessee were unfavorable. The governor is expecting a report on the exact line-up on the legislature late this week, from personal representatives.

Governor Cox announced definitely yesterday that he would not be able to attend the vice presidential notification ceremonies for Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., on August 5. Besides important conferences with party leaders remaining over here after the presidential notification event next Saturday, it was understood that Governor Cox wished to let Mr. Roosevelt be the principal democratic figure at Hyde park.

Several tallsmans were received yesterday by Governor Cox from admirers, who hoped their tokens would augment "Cox luck" during the campaign. Among them were historic telegram receiving instruments, sent by Commodore E. C. Benedict of New York, a friend of former President Grover Cleveland. He said they were used by Mr. Cleveland in receiving returns of his election, and also by President Wilson for both of his successful election periods.

Among invitations Governor Cox received yesterday, was a request for his attendance next April, at the Fresno, Cal., raisin growers' carnival. Prospects for a large crowd here next Saturday, for Governor Cox's notification ceremonies, were raised by reports received by additional marching delegations and bands planning the pilgrimage. The Indiana Democratic club is reported to be sending one of the largest outside delegations of 1000 members. A special train with 750 democrats from Fort Wayne, Ind., is scheduled and the Iroquois club of Chicago reported that it would be there with 100 members. A delegation from Camden, O., will be led by Gilbert Cox, father of the nominee.

Many automobile caravans from Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky are also expected. Governor Cox spent last night at his farm at Jacksonburg, 30 miles from Dayton.

MAYOR SAVES SON FROM DROWNING

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Mayor Peters rescued his oldest son, Andrew J., Jr., from drowning off North Haven, Me., while both were on vacation there last week, according to a story he told upon his return to city hall. The boy fell into the water while he was vainly trying, with his brother Alanson, to catch a jelly fish off the stern of the mayor's small sail boat, which was an anchor.

The mayor heard the splash and looking around saw only Alanson on the deck of the boat. Alanson was so frightened that he was unable to scream or to tell what happened. The fright pictured on the boy's face told the mayor, however, what had happened. He scrambled over ropes and fish lines to the extreme stern of the boat, leaned far out over the water and pulled Andrew Jr. back to safety.

The youngster, who is only 5 years old, knew enough about swimming not to sink, but he had swallowed a great deal of water and was thoroughly frightened. The mayor then rowed both youngsters to shore, where Mrs. Peters soon mothered them out of their fright.

"JAKY" AS CAUSE FOR A DIVORCE

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The upse of Jamaica ginger as a cause for divorce is set out in a libel for the first time in the history of this commonwealth, and so far as known in any state, in that brought yesterday in the superior court by Florence G. Sweeten of Boston against Joseph E. Sweeten of Boston.

The libel alleges that Mr. Sweeten, "since said marriage, has contracted gross and confirmed habits of drunkenness caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, Jamaica ginger and other drugs." The libel also charges cruel and abusive treatment on July 25, 1920, and on other times and dates.

She was married to him June 1, 1913, in Boston and lived there with him. She asks alimony and custody of their 5½-year-old daughter, Margaret Anna.

THE MARATHON CLUB

The Marathon Social & Athletic club has been granted a permit by the building inspector to change over tenement property at 37-39 Hanover street for clubhouse purposes. The alterations will involve an expenditure of $5000. Twelve partitions on the lower floor of the building will be removed to make room for a gymnasium and race track. The second floor will be used as a music room and an addition is to be built to be used for shower baths, boiler room and reception room.

BASEBALL GAME

The manager of the Postoffice baseball team announced today that his club would line up against the Saunders market team in a twilight game on the South common tomorrow night.

TROOPS MOBILIZED3000 Mexicans to be Sent to Lower California

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.—Mobilization of only 3000 men, under the command of Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez, for the campaign against Esteban Cantu, the insurgent governor of Lower California, has been ordered by the government, according to a statement issued last night by Gen. P. Elias Calles, secretary of war. He declared more troops would be sent to Lower California if necessary and would be led by Gen. Angel Flores. It was indicated the government does not consider the rebellion there of great importance.

Gen. Lucio Blanco, General Candido Aguilar, former governor of the state of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of the late President Carranza, and Gustavo Espinoza Mirales, former governor of Coahuila, and one of the leading Carranza adherents are believed to have joined Governor Cantu, says the newspaper Universal, quoting official advice.

The Chinese fraternal union has received a message from Chinese in Lower California saying Gov. Cantu has demanded a loan of $500,000, but that, following a consultation with the Chinese minister at Washington, it has been decided to refuse to meet the demand, as such a step might be construed as aiding the rebellion. Chinese and Japanese residents of Lower California have sent an appeal to the United States government, asking that they be given permission to cross the frontier into California during the campaign against Gov. Cantu.

CONFERENCE ON COAL SITUATION

Mayor Perry D. Thompson and W. F. Whitcomb, traffic manager of the Lowell chamber of commerce, were in conference with officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the South station in Boston this afternoon relative to the New England coal situation, principally as it has to do with the fuel shipped over that road.

Although only a small part of Lowell's coal comes in on trains of the N.Y., N.H. & H. road, nevertheless what little does come entails extra charges. It is understood, the mayor of Brockton recently wrote Mayor Thompson asking him to attend a conference with officials of the road and it is presumed that representatives of a number of other New England municipalities were present at this afternoon's meeting.

Last Line of Defense Gone

from Mlawa, 31 miles northwest of Warsaw, on the only direct railroad to Danzig from the Polish capital. These cavalrymen were said to be headed through Mlawa into the Polish corridor to the Baltic, nearby, and then to Pomerania.

Polish Forces Demoralized

The experts reported that the Polish forces were demoralized on the whole northern and central fronts, and were falling back. The military men said they had virtually abandoned hope of the Poles making a stand now.

The Polish armistice delegates returned to Warsaw Tuesday night, and the Polish government has little hope of the speedy arranging of an armistice. The members of the allied mission are convinced that the soviet government does not intend to negotiate an armistice, they reported, and declared their belief that the Russians had set the next meeting of the negotiators for today at Minsk knowing that it would be impossible for the Poles to arrive there in time, making a pretext for further delay.

The Polish government, it is learned, is undecided as to whether it will send emissaries to Minsk.

The experts said their gravest concern was the imminent cutting off of Warsaw's direct communications with Danzig, upon which Poland is dependent for military supplies.

Lord d'Abernon, the British ambassador to Germany, a member of the British mission to Poland, has returned to Warsaw from Danzig.

SOVIETS CROSS THE RIVER BUG

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The crossing of the River Bug at several points by the soviet army advancing on Warsaw, is announced in Tuesday's official statement from Moscow, received today. The continued advance of the army in the Bielek region also is reported.

Comfort Baby's Skin With Cuticura Soap And Fragrant Talcum

WOUNDED SOLDIERS POUR INTO HOSPITALS

CRACOW, Aug. 3.—Thousands of wounded soldiers are taxing hospital facilities here and doctors and nurses, exhausted by long vigils, are often dropping beside the operating tables. The American Red Cross has opened an improvised school for nurses, and 300 women are being given a hasty elementary course.

HUNDREDS FLEE FROM WARSAW

WARSAW, Aug. 3.—(By Associated Press) The suspense under which Warsaw has labored for three days was heightened tonight by the news that the negotiations at Baranovitch between the Polish and soviet Russian armistice commissions had been without result. The report that the Russian soviet government insisted that peace conversations begin at once caused a sensation in political circles.

Announcement was made that Gen. Romer's party was authorized only to confer with the bolshevik on the question of an armistice. This was in line with the understanding that prevailed when the Polish emissaries left this city for the front.

Americans Ready to Leave

Officials at the American consulate have packed up their most important records for prompt shipment from this city in case the Russian bolshevik continue to advance. The task of visiting the passports of the hundreds who desire to leave Warsaw, will continue until the consulate is forced to close.

Outgoing trains for Vienna, Poznan and Danzig are crowded, and seat reservations are selling at a large premium. People are fighting a gain entrance to the station platforms and rush for places to sit or stand as soon as the trains back in. A close guard is maintained by troops, who inspect all papers to see that no soldiers depart unless they bear proper credentials.

American Red Cross Quarters

Provisional headquarters for the American Red Cross have been established at Cracow for use in case it is necessary for that organization to abandon Warsaw. About 50 Red Cross women workers are still in this city, but they have all their baggage packed and are prepared to leave on short notice. The Y.M.C.A., which has been engaged in the distribution of American relief supplies here, has also taken precautionary measures and officials state today that unless the bolshevik come within a week nearly everything of importance will be saved.

Three hundred carloads of supplies were brought out of Bialystok by the Red Cross before the bolshevik captured that city and members of the organization continued treating the wounded until the soviet forces were within four miles of the town. In addition to saving all their equipment, the Red Cross workers brought out 800 orphans, who had been pupils in a school established by the junior American Red Cross. These orphans have been installed in a village near Warsaw. Red Cross officials here declared today that they would remain in Warsaw until the last. About 70 women workers left recently, but their departure had been decided upon some time ago, because of a decision to reduce the local staff on August 1.

WHY PRICES ARE HIGH

The state commission on the necessities of life, in its report to the legislature that was filed yesterday, drags forth into the daylight what is undoubtedly one of the colored gentlemen in the high-cost-of-living woodpile. It says, "Pacific coast salmon and halibut still bring high prices, but cod and haddock, of which the supply has been enormous, remain a drag on the market because people will not buy them."

The ocean ought to be one of the main sources of food supply for all New England, and particularly for a large part of Massachusetts. Almost unlimited quantities of nourishment are available at our front doorsteps. The harvest of the sea seldom fails. It can be gathered at all seasons of the year. The cost of gathering and marketing it is comparatively small. Yet we neglect it.

Cod and haddock are as nourishing in their way as the choicest cuts of Pacific coast salmon or meat. They can, without difficulty, be cooked in many appetizing ways. The truth of the matter is, though, that we won't eat the humbler fish, although, according to the commission's report, the prices of meat especially are unwarrantably high.

There probably isn't any good reason for blaming people for buying the kind of food that happens to please their fancies so long as they have the money to pay for it. It is the inalienable right of every individual to furnish his table in accordance with whatever scheme of domestic economy suits him best. The day may come of course when some of the epicures who are now turning up their noses at cod and haddock may wish that they had thought a little more about accumulating a sizable bank account, against the coming of a rainy day, and a little less about kicking their plates. However that may be, it is certain that a good many of us have no business to continue kicking against the high cost of living while we are doing our little best to keep it high.

THE SALE OF "JAKE"

According to a story in the news columns of The Sun yesterday, officials of the Lowell park department are in a position to furnish abundant and conclusive evidence that considerable quantities of "jakey" are being consumed in this city. For the benefit of any persons—if there are any such—who may not know what "jakey" is, it may be explained that it is, or is supposed to be, a tincture of Jamaica ginger, having sometimes as high an alcohol content as 97 per cent.

It is commonly believed that a large portion of the average of three or four "drunks" that are taken into custody daily by the city's policemen have become intoxicated as a result of drinking this mixture that is fiery enough to burn the lining from a copper-plated throat and that is body-wrecking in its effects.

Under a construction of the law, as given by Judge Enright, that "jakey" sellers could only be prosecuted if it could be shown that they were selling the concoction for beverage purposes, the police have found it extremely difficult to cope with the evil. Attorney General J. Weston Allen, however, has just made public a ruling that may help the situation somewhat. The board of pharmacy, he states, has authority to revoke the certificate of any druggist who engages in the "jakey" trade. The board, apparently, has sole power to determine whether any drug store proprietor is selling the mixture for use as a beverage. Sales very much in excess of what might be required for medicinal purposes, it would seem, might be considered as reasonably conclusive evidence of guilt.

Whatever views individuals may have regarding the wisdom, or unwisdom, of prohibition, there can be but one stand for good citizens to take, and that is that the villainous business of selling "jakey" must be fought by every available weapon until it is stamped out.

FIRST-DEGREE MURDER

The verdict, "guilty of murder in the second degree," recently returned by the jury in the Pettibone case in Vermont, illustrates once more how difficult it is to obtain a conviction of first degree homicide in states where capital punishment is in vogue, even when the evidence clearly warrants such a verdict.

In the Pettibone case, the jurors, having asked for special instructions, were informed by the presiding judge that the evidence that had been submitted warranted only one of two verdicts, either "not guilty," or "guilty of murder in the first degree." Yet, as has been stated, a "second-degree" verdict was returned.

The statutes of Massachusetts, and, presumably, of most of the other states, define first degree murder as being the taking of human life with "premeditated malice aforethought." The word premeditated is omitted from the definition of second-degree homicide.

The presence of premeditation is not always easy to establish. It must often be inferred from circumstances and conditions. Judges, though, frequently instruct jurors that the time element cannot be taken into consideration in attempting to reach a decision as to premeditation. The human mind works so quickly that the deliberate intention to kill may be formed in an instant.

In Pettibone's case, the fact that he mixed strychnine with salts and then gave the dose to his wife shows that he must have acted with clear, well-formed intention.

To convict such a criminal of second degree murder is to make a travesty of justice. To timid-hearted jurymen and capital punishment must be credited this and similar instances of the failure of the law to function as intended in homicide cases.

THE STREET PLAYGROUNDS

New York city has just added portions of 89 streets to the area already set aside for street playground purposes. At the same time that this news reaches the public, the announcement is made that a number of residents in Howard street in this city have entered a protest against the continued use of the thoroughfare on which their homes are located for play purposes during the early evening hours.

Considerable sympathy will be felt for the protesting Howard street residents. To the casual onlooker it seems an excellent thing that the children should have a chance to romp and enjoy themselves to their young hearts' content, under the direction of supervisors furnished by the city, and in a place where they are free from the danger of passing automobile traffic. Most observers, though, will agree that there is something to be said for the point of view of those who do not look upon it as an unalloyed blessing to have a hundred or more noisy youngsters romping and shouting in front of their doors every evening.

Perhaps a solution of the problem of allowing the people of Howard street to enjoy normal quiet, and yet giving the children a safe place to play in, may be found in the removal of the play area to another street. The setting aside of a part of Charles street for play purposes appears thus far to have encountered no opposition from residents in the neighborhood. It would not seem improbable that there may be thoroughfares in the vicinity of Howard street whose residents would assume a similarly tolerant attitude toward the children.

The incident, in any event, should serve to emphasize the need that the city has for more space devoted to regular playgrounds.

THE GOOD OF TODAY

"Things past and to come seem best; things present worst," says the poet. With us, as individuals, it is the joys of the days gone by, the anticipated pleasures that loom largest. The perfect day is always in the past or the future.

The voice of the pessimist is always heard in the land crying aloud that we have fallen upon evil times. "The world is very evil, the times are waxing late," he tells us. Perhaps so. But a very similar cry has been heard echoing through the ages. If there has ever been a single man who has escaped hearing it, it must have been Adam, who had no neighbors. It is a pretty good old world, though, and has been for a long time for those who looked at it aright.

We have profiteers, threats of coal shortage, nearly empty sugar

bowls, and the necessity for having to get a tight grip on our imaginations and pocketbooks before ordering a suit of clothes, a pair of shoes or a Sunday dinner. Nevertheless we are most of us reasonably happy or ought to be. We have our worries and perplexities, of course, and if we didn't have the particular ones that we do have, we should surely have others.

But, we are the heirs of all the good of all the ages. The bad, the human race has been, and is, slowly casting out. Since the first apple tree blossomed in the Garden of Eden the sun has never shone upon such unlimited resources of happiness as exist today in this land "where the air is full of sunshine and the flag is full of stars."

A budget system isn't a thing to enthuse very much about in a political campaign. Vice Presidential Candidate Roosevelt is eternally right, though, when he says "there is need for reform in the methods of making appropriations by congress."

With tenants clamoring for higher assessments to penalize rent-boasting landlords, and landlords wailing that assessments are already higher than they should be, the job of being a tax assessor doesn't appear to be one of the most alluring in the world.

During the first six months of the year work was started on 101 garages in Lowell. During the same period the erection was begun of 46 dwellings. Which reminds one of the South Sea islander who invested in a silk hat as the first essential for a costume.

Governor Cox, with the White House in his mind's eye, says "it would appear to be a reflection on the city to desire to leave Dayton and live in any other place." There would be no difficulty about believing this if he had been talking about Lowell.

It comes pretty near weighing down like the last straw added to the H. C. of L. burden when you have to step up to the restaurant cashier's desk and pay 15 cents for one-seventh of a small blueberry pie.

Even Senator Lodge would probably say "Amen" to the prayer of a clergyman visiting the White House who, seated in the vacant chair of the president, petitioned for the speedy restoration of Mr. Wilson to health.

A subject of King George V writes to a Boston newspaper to say that the British government "worketh for righteousness, justice, peace and liberty in my country (India) as in all other parts of the British empire." Especially Ireland?

With the completion of the work recently begun of rebuilding part of St. John's hospital, Lowell will have cause to point with more than common pride to its institutions for the care of the sick and the injured.

The members of the municipal council, feasting the city hall reporters, showed appropriate appreciation of the services of the boys who are doing their bit to add to the gaiety of nations by keeping the spotlight trained upon the city fathers.

Howard E. Figg, special assistant attorney general, asserts that manufacturers and jobbers are conspiring to keep up the price of clothing in defiance of the Lever act. A fig for Mr. Figg's talk, unless he has something more substantial to offer.

The railroad labor economist, who asserts that the increase in freight rates will not result in an addition to the price of commodities, may yet be heard from, informing the public that it is possible to extract blood from turnips.

After reading of the delicious dinner, prepared and served by the ten young women taking the teachers' training course in cookery at the Vocational school, we feel a bit pained that we didn't get an invitation.

Mildred Harris Chaplin thinks that she can get along very nicely without Charlie for a husband, but what a lot of joy would go out of life if he should be divorced from the movies.

The baby, christened in the arms of its father, standing on a slender girder at the top of a 14-story building, is surely beginning life well up toward the top.

"There is no shortage of sugar in this country," says the Fall River News. If that's true, Lowell is no longer a part of the U. S. A.

SEEN AND HEARD

"Neither fear, nor wish for, your last day."

Goodness, said, Athena, does not consist in greatness, but greatness in goodness.

"Say, old man," said a friend to a golf player, "what is the best way to learn to play golf?"

"Well," replied the other man, "take a couple of dozen balls, a wheelbarrow load of mud and forget that you ever went to church."

A well known statistician was giving some statements about a certain industry at a public dinner.

"These are not my figures, ladies and gentlemen," he said, "they are the figures of a man who knows what he is talking about."

An extraordinary boy into the office of a business man rushed a bright-faced lad. For three minutes he waited and then began to show signs of impatience.

"Excuse me, sir," he said at length, "I'm in a hurry."

"Well, what do you want?" asked the business man.

"A job."

"But why the hurry?"

"Got to hurry," replied the lad briefly. "Left school yesterday, and haven't struck anything suitable yet."

The only place where I can stay long is where they pay me for it."

"How much to you want?"

"Fifteen dollars a week for a start."

"And when can you come?"

"Don't need to come; I'm here. I could have been at work five minutes ago if you'd only said so."—Chicago News.

Proffert's Soliloquy

(Shakespeare, Assisted by St) (Enter Proffert)

Proffert—To raise or not to raise; that is the question;

Whether 'tis more profitable to suffer the tiny, harmless arrows

Of outraged congress, or to take arms against the puny laws

And, by opposing, and them? To raise; to raise again;

And raise once more and buy my wife a diamond—

'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished—

Yet—can I get away with it? There's Palmer! But, pish! and tush! O pooh-pooh!

He's asleep! Let, in that sleep, what dreams might come!

Ah, well, he'll dream; and dreaming never lowers rates.

Though it do entertain most hideous nightmares of the dark—

(Proffert stretches arms, yawns) Ho, varlets! Ho, secretaries!

(Enter Varlets and Secretaries) Varlets and Secretaries—What ho? Sir?

Proffert—Raise! 'em! Raise! 'em! Thrice raise! 'em!

LOWELL WOMEN MAKE

READY TO VOTE

Lowell women showed more interest in the possibility of their voting this fall at the registration sessions held yesterday afternoon and evening than they did Monday. A total of 57 women were registered in comparison with only 14 the day before. An even hundred men registered.

The registration of the women by wards was as follows: Ward 1, 9; ward 2, 2; ward 3, 13; ward 4, 2; ward 5, 7; ward 6, 5; ward 7, 5; ward 8, 25; ward 9, 16. Total, 87.

Men: Ward 1, 13; ward 2, 11; ward 3, 10; ward 4, 8; ward 5, 9; ward 6, 23; ward 7, 10; ward 8, 13; ward 9, 5. Total, 100.

This week's final registration session will be held this evening from 7 to 9. Sessions will also be held next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

George H. Stevens acted as moderator at the special town meeting held in Grange hall, Dracut Centre, last evening. The sum of $2,000 was appropriated for the installation of a heating system at the Kenwood school. This amount to be used with the $2,400 voted at the regular town meeting, and the school committee was empowered to dispose of the old heating system and accessories. The selectmen were instructed to confer with officials of the Eastern Massachusetts Street railway relative to the removal of two poles recently erected on the Collinsville park by the street car company. The article calling for an appropriation of $3,000 for an addition to the Pleasant street bridge was laid over until next year and similar action was taken on the article calling for an appropriation of $250 for street and guide signs.

NEW CENTRALVILLE MARKET

After extensive alterations to the building at the corner of West Sixth and Jewett streets, John J. Ingalls, formerly a member of the firm of J. J. McCausland Co., and owner of the property, will open an up-to-date market tomorrow morning. All new market fixtures have been installed and a complete line of meats and groceries will be shown. Mr. Ingalls is well known in the Centralville district and has the best wishes of his many friends for success in his new location.

Other Meetings

Other labor meetings were held last evening by the Barbers' union, the Blacksmiths' union and the Woolen Weavers' union, these meetings being held in Labor union hall, Central street.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

"That photograph of the Line-House at Jackson, Me., published in The Sun a week or so ago was a fine picture of the little wooden hotel," said Hon. James E. O'Donnell to the Man About Town yesterday, "but the story that accompanied the photo was far from describing the conditions that exist on the Canadian line. I stopped at the Line-House last week while on my way up north by auto, and spent about an hour enjoying the sights. At the extreme rear of the little wooden building is a small bar, where the thirsty are served, and it may be said that everything runs along smoothly. There is a continuous flow of the liquid over the bar, but not the least sign of disturbance. In one of the front rooms of the hotel a fiddler entertains the visitors with Canadian and American selections and occasionally visitors join in, filling the building with music, melodious and otherwise."

"When I stopped at the Immigration office near the Line-House the government inspector, after filling out the necessary papers, asked me if there were any more automobiles left in Massachusetts, for to him it seemed that Jackson was the rendezvous of all automobile owners of the commonwealth. I had heard so much about Canada since prohibition went into effect that I kept my eyes opened while going through the dominion, and to be frank I did not see anything startling. Conditions are not as bad as pictured. Of course, there is a free sale of light beer, ales and wines, but rum does not flow as freely as some claim. I went through Beauveville, into Lewis, and thence across the St. Lawrence into Quebec. I journeyed to St. Anne de Beauport and then went to Montreal, going through the many country towns and I saw very few intoxicated persons en route. While in Quebec I called at the store of former Mayor Lavigne, a former resident of this city, but unfortunately he was out. I returned by way of Napierville, Que., and stopped at the King Edward hotel, where I shook hands with the proprietor, Ovide Morin, a former resident of this city, and there also I met a great number of Lowellites. From Napierville I cut across to Roussell Point, N. X., and thence to Burlington, coming home through Vermont and New Hampshire. The roads through the Jackson route are not very good, but the trip through the Pine Tree state is worth it. In Canada the roads are in excellent condition."

The members of the city government and newspapermen who went to Rye Harbor Monday just to get away from the grind a bit, swapped enough stories to fill a good-sized volume of anecdotes. Some of them are too good to keep under cover and one "pulled" by Mayor Thompson is especially worthy of recognition. As you probably know, the mayor is a lumber operator in private life, and naturally his story had to be about a pair of old lumbermen of Maine who had spent much of their youth "riding" logs down to the saw-mill after they had been felled. In middle life they had taken up less strenuous occupations, but some years later they returned to their old haunts. One of them, "Lem," the mayor called him, couldn't resist the temptation to ride down the stream again with a raft of logs and he told his companion that he bet he could do it just as easily as he did 20 years ago. His crony told him to "go to it" and Lem mounted the logs and began his journey. About 20 minutes later his friend met him coming up the road, somewhat depressed and damp looking, and asked him what the trouble was.

"Well," said Lem, "I got on those logs all right and was driving them in first rate style. My foot-work was great and I began to feel young again. Then suddenly I heard a splash and when I turned around to see what it was I found it was myself in the water."

It is just about this time of the year that doting parents whose children will begin their school careers in September begin to realize that their offspring must be vaccinated in order to gain admission to school. Then comes the question of who is to do the work, when and where. The family physician, of course, is capable of performing the slight operation necessary or it may be done at the dispensary of the board of health in the basement of city hall where most of the city's children are vaccinated. From now until the middle of September there will be a land office business at the dispensary and in order to prevent much confusion and unnecessary trips downtown, it may be well to emphasize the hours at which vaccination is given at city hall. Every day in the week, except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, there is somebody at the building ready to vaccinate children brought there between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Many people have the impression that the work is done in the morning but that is not so. Only one hour in the afternoon is given over to it.

LABOR UNION MEETINGS

The second annual convention of the International Leather Workers' union of America will be held at Lynn September 7, and the Lowell delegates who will attend the convention are John Hall, Fred Buckley, Joseph Welch, Joseph Labelle, Joseph Moran, George Wesson, John Muldoon, Henry McGrover and Dennis Healey. These delegates were chosen at last evening's meeting of the local branch of the union, which was held in the leather workers' hall, Central street. In the course of the meeting routine business was transacted.

Other labor meetings were held last evening by the Barbers' union, the Blacksmiths' union and the Woolen Weavers' union, these meetings being held in Labor union hall, Central street.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

MRS. SQUIRREL'S COMPLAINT

After Tinseling, the fairy landlord, had got his clothes let out (because he was getting so fat) he left Maple-Tree Flat, taking Nancy and Nick, the twins, along. He had collected all the rents there anyway, and what was the use of him staying? Particularly when there were more rents to be collected in the Land-of-Deer-Knows-Where!

"HOW DO YOU DO, MRS. SQUIRREL!" HE REMARKED. "IT'S A LOVELY DAY, ISN'T IT?"

"Let me see!" said he, running his finger down his rent list to see who hadn't paid: "Why, I declare, if I hadn't forgotten all about Scramble Squirrel and his wife, I rented them the top story of Hickory-Tree Dwellings, one of the finest apartments the Fairy Queen owns. I mustn't forget to collect from them."

So that's where they all marched next, to Mr. Scramble Squirrel's, the children's Green Shoes making it easy for them to get up the tree.

The first thing they saw was Mrs. Squirrel out on a shady branch doing her winter sewing—no, not her spring day, isn't it. I don't blame you for not staying in the house. Nothing like fresh air, say I. Air, give me air, fresh air, and plenty of it. Wonderful beautiful air!"

Mrs. Squirrel drew down the corners of her mouth. "Air?" she said in disgust. "Don't say air to me. I'm sick of it. It's all right to stay out in the air when you don't have to, but when you have to, it's different."

"Why?" asked Nancy curiously, forgetting that it wasn't polite to break into a conversation.

"Because," Mrs. Squirrel informed her. "I can't get into my house at all any more. My husband has eaten so much he takes up all the room, and I have to live outside."

166 CENTRAL STREET

AMUSEMENT NOTES

For real enjoyment in a motion picture you should glimpse "Tartar, Bed-room and Bath," which will be featured for the last half of the present week at The Strand, beginning tomorrow afternoon. This is unquestionably the most satisfactory of recent comedy plays, and one which has played to hundreds of thousands in the past year. It is a dance, a comedy, a romance, sheer joy and sheer pathos in farce, and nobody can give a more concise, a more telling idea of it than to use this statement. It is a Metro picture, and Ruth Stonehouse, an admirable actress, is cast for the wonderfully funny part of the social reporter who did her level best to make the quiet husband into a demon with a long, bad past.

He was nothing of the sort. He was the mildest, meekest, "hottest" husband in the world, and his efforts at trying to prove himself the other sort are laughable in the extreme. The central situation deals with Reggie Irving who for many years had sought Angelica for his wife. She had always wanted a man just her opposite—a wild sort of husband. Reggie hadn't the slightest idea how to be wild, and he sought some inside information from Polly Hathaway, the social reporter. Polly did her best to put a black eye on Reggie's reputation, but—what's the use. You've got to catch those wonderful situations, as artful as anything comedy holds and played with a speed and light touch that will hit the most critical squarely. Miss Stonehouse is the reporter; Eugene Bellamy, who was in "Fair and Warmer," is the husband. The part of the wife who wanted a very lively husband is played by Kathleen Kilkham.

Graham Brockwell in "A Sister to Salome," a daring expose of a dual existence, is the added attraction for the last half of the week. A surprise, wholly unlooked for, is locked up in this film drama. The acting is of a quality which quite surpasses the ordinary play, and Miss Brockwell is at her very best.

Sure Relief

See Wolf? Jack London's famous story of adventure, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. The other feature is "The Phantom Melody," starring Monroe Salisbury.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Manager Nelson has arranged a strong program of features. "Sherry," taken from George Barr McCutcheon's celebrated novel of the same name, a melodramatic romance of adventure and humor, will be the headliner, and "The Woman God Sent," a story of political and factory life, starring Zena Keefe, will be the other feature.

"Sherry" is an Edgar Lewis-Pathe feature, adapted from George Barr McCutcheon's widely read novel of the same name. It is a typically American story of a typically American small town, where everyone takes an interest in everyone else, and either helps him up or kicks him down.

Sherry had been kicked down and out, but he was made of true blue stuff and took keen delight in showing the town gossip that he could not only make good, but clear up a mystery, catch a couple of burglars, and win the most popular girl in town.

As in the case with all of Edgar Lewis-Pathe productions, the story has been sacrificed to the leading young actor is an ideal selection. Young O'Malley was born in Dublin, Ireland, and educated in the United States, therefore he can perfectly understand "Sherry," whom George Barr McCutcheon describes as a "young Irish-American, morally clean and generous to a fault."

A comedy, the International News and a Burton Holmes travel picture will round out the bill.

READMITTED TO U. S. GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Man Who Fought for U. S. 30 Years on Program to 50 Years Ago Detained at Compete Today—Purses
Ellis Island 11 Weeks Aggregate $6900

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Richard Lacey, who 50 years ago served several years in Uncle Sam's army fighting Indians in the west, gained readmittance to this country yesterday after having been detained three months at Ellis Island. A bond of $500, furnished by a nephew, removed the possibility of the old Indian fighter's becoming a public charge, and, orders were received from Washington allowing Lacey freedom to stay in the United States at least six months.

"Thank God, I shall see America again," commented Lacey, when told that he could enter. "Eleven weeks today I've been here, all the while knocking at the door of the country for which I fought some 50-odd years ago. I hope I can visit some of the scenes of battles we had with the red skins."

STOPPED OVER ON CROSS CONTINENT TRIP

Ernest C. Foster, a resident of Maine, who is traveling across the country in an odd-looking automobile, arrived in Lowell yesterday afternoon and a few hours later he was booked at the police station for drunkenness. It seems that Foster made a few friends shortly after his arrival, and succeeded in getting a fairly good supply of "moonshine." Of course Foster was thirsty and he did not wait until he had left Lowell to give his stuff the once over with the result that he soon became intoxicated and his notions as well as his machine attracted the attention of passersby and pretty soon Tilden street, where the automobile was standing, was the scene of a large gathering. Shortly after 7 o'clock a telephone call was sent to the station and Sgt. Bigelow and Inspector Walsh were detailed to disperse the crowd and incidentally take Foster to the station. This morning the visitor was released by the probation officer. Foster, who is 33 years of age left the state of Maine a few days ago on an automobile trip from coast to coast and he is traveling in a machine that is built on the same principles as the old-fashioned coach. As soon as he was released from the station this morning he left Lowell.

Men and Women

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney medicine, is highly recommended by thousands.

Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that so many people say it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands of even the most distressing cases.

At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcel post, also a pamphlet telling you about the kidney medicine.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 4.—Thirty horses are on the program to compete in the third day of the grand circuit racing at Miami today. There are four events on the card, with purses aggregating $6000. There are eight starters in the 2:10 trot for a purse of $1500, nine in the Toledo Blade $3000 stake for trotters eligible to the 2:14 class, seven in the $1200 2:05 pace, and six in the Legal News $1000 stake for two-year-old trotters.

According to the opinion of the horsemen, the 2:10 trot looks like a consolation race as there is not a grand circuit winner in the bunch. Winterwood, a bay mare by Edgewater, owned by A. McDonald of Indianapolis, is the early favorite.

TALENT HIT IN YESTERDAY'S RACE

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 4.—Hacing to form continued to be the order of the day at the Grand Circuit races at Fort Miami park yesterday, three favorites and one second choice topping the summaries.

The fall of the talent on the beaten favorite was a hard one, however, as it was the 4-year-old colt Peter L., which up to yesterday had been invincible in his races on the major circuit, that provided the bump. The New York trotter Dr. Nick, driven by Tom Murphy, was the one to take the colt into camp, and incidentally Murphy annexed half of the program, driving two of the four winners.

The stake feature was the $3000 stake for 2:10 pacers, in which the Ohio mare Juno, which has not lost a race since the Edwards stake at North Randall, was returned the winner.

The free-for-all pace did not prove to be the feature expected, owing to the refusal of the owner of Single G. to start his horse, claimed to be out of condition.

Juno was the choice for the pacing stake, selling at $100 to $30 for the field. In the first two heats the only scramble was for second money, Juno playing with the field, but in the final the Laurel Hill pacer, Peter Look, looked up with her head and in a later stretch duel won her down and won.

Peter L. $100, Dr. Nick $70, Lou Todd $20 and the field $20 was the average selling on the 2:07 trot. In the first heat Dr. Nick led all the way, beating Peter L. in a close finish.

Peter L. did the early leading in the second heat, but could not stall off Murphy's trotter in the final drive. Dr. Nick again took the lead in the final and was not headed.

Samardo was a $50 to $35 choice over the field for the free-for-all. In the first two heats he led all the way, but both times Murphy was compelled to drive him to the limit to hand him ahead of Princess Mary. In the final heat, after Gladys B. had set the early going, the pacer again hooked up and this time the Canadian mare would not be denied heading Murphy's gelding close to the wire and winning.

The Hartford trainer, Fred Hyde, put across a good winner, Eliza Dillon, in the 2:15 trot. Three different horses took a while at the filly in the three heats, but she was equal to beating them all.

Walter Cox started the New Hampshire mare, My Leaf, her first start of the season, and she was the main contender in the first heat, trotting right at 2:05.

WILL SELL WESTFORD STREET FIREHOUSE

The Westford street firehouse, which was abandoned by the fire department several months ago, will be placed on the market within a short time. Commissioner John F. Salmon announced today.

As soon as City Solicitor William D. Regan returns from his vacation the necessary legal steps will be taken whereby the property may be transferred from the city to the hands of some private interest. The receipts from the sale will go to the credit of the fire department appropriation to be used in constructing a new house in the upper Highlands.

CITY AUTOMOBILE IN COLLISION

The city automobile used by Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy of the street department was damaged this morning in a collision with a car owned by W. L. Henzel of 537 School street. Commissioner Murphy and his chauffeur, Wilfred Achin, were driving up Middlesex street about 10:30 when the Henzel car backed out of a garage and struck the street department machine, bending one of the forward mud guards and denting a tire.

LEPERS ARE NOT WHOLLY CURED

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Examination of two patients at the leper colony on Penikese Island, who have been undergoing treatment with chaulmuga oil, a product of an East Indian fig tree, has shown unusual progress toward recovery, but the men have not been wholly cured, according to a report of a special medical commission. Dr. M. Victor Safford, chairman of the commission, said that bacteriological tests had shown the presence of bacilli in the blood and the release of the patients was inadvisable at this time.

COMPARATIVE EXAMINATIONS FOR POSITIONS AS STATE DISTRICT HEALTH OFFICERS

Agent Francis J. O'Hare has received notice of a competitive examination for positions as district health officers in Massachusetts to be held by the state department of health Sept. 20 and 21 at the state house in Boston. Two health officers will be appointed in the near future and the purpose of the forthcoming examination is to establish a list of eligibles for the positions. A salary of $3000 is paid the first year with increases coming later. Full details may be obtained from Dr. Eugene R. Kelley, state commissioner of health.

HUGHES DENOUNCES ARCHBISHOP MANNIX

MELBOURNE, Aug. 3.—W. A. Hughes, premier of Australia, speaking here today, attacked Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix, who is now on his way from the United States to the British Isles, after having been notified that he would be barred from Ireland by the British government. The premier's speech was virtually a reply to a statement made public in New York city by Archbishop Mannix on July 25, in which he vigorously denounced Mr. Hughes.

"Demonstrations in America favorable to Archbishop Mannix," said Mr. Hughes, "were carefully stage-managed in a manner similar to that pursued in those arranged in Australia, and the people who acclaimed him there were Sinn Feiners, possibly mixed with Bolsheviks or other wild fanatics. Archbishop Mannix does not represent Australia or the Irish or any other question, and is the acknowledged Sinn Fein leader in this country."

"When he arrived in Australia seven years ago," the premier continued, "Australia was freer from sectarian bitterness than any country in the world. Spurred by boundless personal ambition and hatred of Great Britain, Archbishop Mannix has fanned the dying embers of religious bigotry into a fierce blaze, gathering around him every fanatic alien and Sinn Fein in the country. He worked incessantly during the war to prevent recruiting and help the enemy defeat the allies, working great harm to Australia."

Referring to an alleged threat by Archbishop Mannix to "deal with Hughes" upon the prelate's return to Australia, the premier said: "He may, but, first of all, he has to return."

JOFFRE STREET SEWER

Employees of the sewer department this morning began work on a 125-foot sewer in Joffre street. The job will continue about three weeks, according to Commissioner Murphy.

Red Russia Ripe for Counter Revolt But Stupid People Dare Not Try It

BY J. H. DUCKWORTH,
N.E.A. Staff Special
REVAL, Esthonia, Aug. 4.—"What keeps the soviet republic going?" asked a clown at a Petrograd circus. His answer was in Russian rhyme: "Jewish brains, Letish bayonets, Russian Stupidity."

This crack brought down the house. The clown got two weeks in the fortress of Saints Peter and Paul for his temerity.

I often thought of this incident when I was safe out of Russia. There was more than a modicum of truth in the jest.

Terrific Revenge

Led by the clever Jewish brains the workers and peasants of Russia have also taken a terrible revenge on their oppressors—the capitalists and the big landowners.

But the workers and peasants are now heartily sick of the experiment in communism. Russia is now economically a wreck. The proletariat is praying for a change of government in the hope of getting bread.

It is only bayonets and the threats of imprisonment or death that keep the people from openly revolting. Russia is ripe for a counter-revolution. But the people are too stupid, or rather stupefied, as a result of continued starvation, to make a move.

The long and wearisome ride from Moscow to Jamburg I shall never forget. Soldiers guarded all the stations. Soldiers were in all the little wayside towns. They boarded the train every hour so to examine permits. And all along the 500 miles peasants were beseeching us to give them bread.

It seemed strange, but numerous soviet government officials begged me, almost with tears in their eyes, to help them get to America.

All Want to Get Out

Soviet Red Cross nurses, railroad officials, even some of the commissars on our train of 300 Swiss refugees, everybody in soviet Russia, it seemed, wanted to get out.

Scores of Americans of Russian origin, who gave up their good jobs in the states and flocked back to Russia after the revolution in the hopes of finding a paradise on earth, now find themselves prisoners in a land of famine.

At Jamburg, near the Esthonian frontier, the commissar in charge of our food and the Russian commandant of the train were both marched off to the local headquarters of the extraordinary commission between armed guards.

It was rumored that they had been discovered plotting to escape into Esthonia. We were sorry for them. Their fate was sealed. All the way from Moscow these two Bolsheviks had been outgoing the beauties and benefits of Bolshevism—camouflage.

Suspicious of Man

I was accompanied all the way from Moscow by a man I believed to be a spy or agent-provocateur. He was thrown in my way the day I was evacuated from the prison of the Vitchanka in Moscow. He pretended to be an Englishman who had been in prison, too. But he looked so uncommonly fat and well that I at once became suspicious.

He seemed particularly anxious to find out what I was going to write when I got out of Russia. And he was always inviting me to hop the train and return to Petrograd. I pretended that my trip had been a failure; that I had seen nothing of consequence. He expressed astonishment when I got over the frontier at seeing me busily taking notes.

"You seem more cheerful now," he said.

"Yes," I answered; "I am now on the safe side of the line."

Let me here make a confession. I went to Russia with the friendliest of feelings towards communism. In fact, my intimate friends in New York called me a Bolshevik.

Cured of Bolshevism

I expected to find that "the great 50 per cent" in Russia were comparatively happy, on top. I was quite willing that the 20 per cent, capitalists, exploiters, bourgeois, call them what you will, should suffer if the majority were happy.

But perhaps I was only a parlor Bolshevik, after all.

Communism may be a beautiful theory of government. In practice it is a ghastly fiasco. Nobody is happy under it, everybody, both the 50 and the 20 per cent, is hungry to the point of starvation.

At Jamburg we were held up six

10,000 AT FUNERAL OF CANARY BIRD

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 4.—A crowd, estimated by the police at 10,000 persons, thronged the streets of the city last night to attend the funeral of Jimmie, the pet canary of Emilio Russo, a 60 year old cobbler. Police reserves were called out to preserve order and clear the streets for the funeral cortege. Jimmie, described by his owner as possessing a "song as sweet as the voice of Caruso," choked to death Sunday on a watermelon seed.

Leading the procession was a band of 12 pieces, playing funeral dirges, followed by a hearse, bedecked with flowers and carrying a small white coffin in which the bird's body rested. The old cobbler, tear-stained and visibly affected, rode in a coach with a few intimate friends.

The cost of the bird's funeral, estimated at $100, was contributed by the cobbler's friends. When Jimmie died, the old cobbler drew the blinds of his shop, hung out a sign "Closed on Account of Jimmie's Death," put crepe over his door and went into deep mourning.

A tombstone, in the shape of a cross with a canary bird in its center, will be erected over the bird's grave near Branch Brook park, the cobbler said.

hours. We were taken about a mile through the woods to an old farmhouse and given a final shakedown by the extraordinary commission. The men were taken into one room and the women into another, where our clothing was searched. Some were stripped. Diamond rings, gold and silver coins and even overcoats were taken away from us. Bolshevik literature we were allowed to keep.

A Grim Joker
And then, later on in the train, as we were approaching the red flag on the barbed wire fence on the frontier, a commissar gravely came into every coach and asked:

"Does anybody want to go back to Russia? This is your last chance."

A grim joker, this Bolshevik.

The last few minutes in Russia were anxious moments for all of us. Something might happen to make the Bolsheviks change their minds and send us back to Moscow.

Once over the line everybody commenced to sing. Some prayed—prayers of thankfulness for their safe delivery. I suppose. Others put their heads out of the windows and looking towards Russia, spat out on the tracks.

Scared Bolsheviks

I was told when I left the states not to editorialize and to write only about things I saw and actually heard. But before I close let me say this:

Bolshevism in the United States must be fought tooth and nail. It is a destructive form of government. It tears down the rich—and pushes the poor further into the mire. Nobody benefits by it.

Must Be Fought

But the spirit of Bolshevism must be fought intelligently. Oppression and the curtailment of free speech won't accomplish anything. The workers of America have honest grievances. These must be righted. Personally, I don't blame them for believing that communism will right all their wrongs. Theoretically, it will.

But no honest man can see Russia, as I have seen it, and come back and wish to have Bolshevism tried out in his own country—that is, if he loves

ONE SHOT DURING RIOT

Boston Policeman, Veteran of War, Beats Off Gang of 30 and Holds Prisoner

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—One man was shot and several received minor injuries, during a riot which started on George street, opposite Gerard street, Roxbury, about 9:30 last night, when a crowd of between 20 and 30 young men set upon a police officer, Joseph P. Patenaude, of the Dudley-street station. Because he insisted on arresting a member of the gang for assault upon an officer of the law.

The wounded man is Thomas F. Lynch, a soldier, who belongs to the Supply Co., 34th Infantry, Camp Devens. A bullet from the policeman's revolver struck him in the back and tore through his shoulder. He is receiving treatment at the City hospital, where it is said his wound is not particularly dangerous.

War Hero Proves Game as Ever

Patenaude, one of the new police force, a veteran of the world war and holder of the Croix de Guerre for gallantry on the field of battle, proved that his courage is as great as ever. Single-handed and alone he battled with a mob of husky young men and emerged with his man, taking him to the Dudley-street station at the point of his revolver and there booking him as he started out to do.

During the melee Patenaude was badly beaten and pummeled by his assailants, who for a time had him down on his back. The young officer never ceased fighting, however, and finally emerged the victor.

About 9:30 last night Patenaude came upon a group of young men who were standing in a doorway on George street drinking "jakey." He ordered them to move on, and all did so, except Michael Glennon, 23, of 53 George street.

Patenaude took him by the shoulder and urged him out of the doorway, whereupon Glennon swung twice with his fist, striking Patenaude each time. Thereupon the officer placed Glennon under arrest for assaulting an officer of the law.

Knocked Down and Kicked

Then the trouble started. Patenaude

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that simple remedy made from roots and herbs, goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes such symptoms as backache, headache, nervousness, and irritability, they would be healthier, happier and stronger. sold a crowd of between 20 and 30 young men descended upon him or mass, knocking him down and beating and kicking him in blind fury. Patenaude clung to Glennon, however, and fought with all his strength.

Finally, because he was outnumbered to such a degree Patenaude managed to draw his revolver. He struck Glennon over the head with the butt of it, and then, as the crowd was still beating him, he fired two shots. One struck Lynch and the other went wild.

As the shots were fired the mob dispersed for the moment, or, at least, in their attack on the policeman, with glancing to Glennon, Patenaude struggled to his feet, and his revolver clutched in one hand and holding Glennon, struggling with the other, limped to the station with his prisoner. His clothes were torn and he was battered and bleeding, but his courage was high and he had his man.

Showers With Missiles

The trip to the station was made under severe difficulties, for the mob followed at a distance, showering the officer and his prisoner with bricks, bottles and sticks—any missiles that came to hand. Patenaude several times told them that he would "wing" anyone he caught throwing anything, but because of the darkness he was unable to catch any of the mob in the act and he therefore held his fire.

Meanwhile a riot call had been sounded and a wagon loaded with policemen was sent out. The wagon went to the scene by one route, while Patenaude and his prisoner look another, as the reserves spread all about when they arrived.

Glennon was released in 9:50 just before midnight for his appearance in the Roxbury court this morning. After having his bruises treated, Patenaude returned to duty.

WAS PRESENTED GAVEL

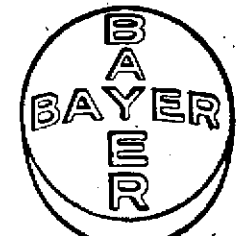

James Whitaker, a resident of Tyngsboro and former national president of the Wool Sorters' union, who recently resigned his position in order to go west for his health, was presented a gavel at the regular meeting of Local 5, Wool Sorters' union last evening. The meeting was presided over by President Herbert Waterhouse and routine business was transacted. Mr. Whitaker is an employee of the Massachusetts Mohair Plush mill.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF WORK

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is still maintaining its soldiers' relief work despite the fact that the armistice has been signed nearly two years. A number of former service men are still suffering from the physical effects of the war and are being taken care of at convalescent homes in East Pepperell and Groton in North Middlesex county. The local chapter of the Red Cross has been asked to use its efforts in securing automobile rides, smokes, games, phonograph records, etc., so that the monotony of the men in waiting for their return to health may be relieved. Miss Alice Sullivan of 31 McCormack street, chairman of civilian relief, would be glad to get in touch with those interested in soldiers' and sailors' welfare.

We used to engineer our plant—switchboards, cables, circuits, and all necessary parts thereof—to anticipate by several years the growth of population or manufacturing in any particular place or region. Consequently, we were always able to meet promptly demands for service, no matter how large or unexpected.

Hence, during the war period we were able to give service to a rapidly increasing list of subscribers, although we had little priority consideration as a necessary industry and were compelled by government restriction to abandon our normal programme of advance construction.

When the war ended, however, these reserve facilities had been almost wholly pre-empted by the growing demand. Our usual reserve of central offices, switchboards, power plants, conduits, cables, manholes, pole lines no longer existed. We required rubber, paper, copper wire, lumber, silk, clay, glass, porcelain, paraffin, and many other things not ordinarily associated in the public mind with telephone service, in order to restore our reserves.

Every business man will realize the difficulty experienced in getting some, if not all, of these things. We had to get all, or devise some efficient substitute for those which could not be had.

We have installed more new telephones thus far this year than in any previous similar period of telephone history; and we could have done still more but for the exhaustion of our reserve equipment caused by general conditions of production and transportation. These are showing signs of improvement, however.

Our morale is good. Our people are earnestly desirous of giving good service and of extending it as fast as possible. Although there are many persons to whom we cannot at once give telephone service because of conditions wholly outside our organization, we are determined to meet their desires as soon as it is humanly possible to do so.

CHASE AGAIN ACCUSED OF "THROWING GAMES"

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—Efforts to sign Hal Chase, former major league first baseman, and Earl Maggert, former Salt Lake City outfielder, will be made by the Lemore club of the San Joaquin Valley Baseball league, it was announced today by League Secretary Wilkinson.

The announcement came as an aftermath to action yesterday by Pacific Coast league officials which resulted in the unconditional release of Maggert from the Salt Lake City club, and in barring of Chase from all coast league parks as the consequence of charges of gambling. "Jabe" Chase had been barred from the league parks, the president of the California Mission league, another semi-professional organization, stated that Chase had been barred from playing further with the San Jose club and that "all interest he has in that club must be forfeited."

Chase had been playing every Sunday with the San Jose team.

Efforts to locate Chase had failed last night and today. Boston denied that he had been connected with an alleged attempt to "throw" games. Maggert likewise denied the charges.

LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER HIGH CLASS BOUT

The first indoor boxing program of the season will be staged at the Crescent rink tomorrow night, and in arranging for the resumption of "indoor sports," the matchmaker of the local club has signed up a pair of the country's most prominent middleweights, Silent Martin of Berkeley and Frank Carbonne of Bayonne, N. J., who are the men to perform in the main event, and it is the past record of the pair that counts for anything, local fans are in for a battle that will compare favorably with the remarkable Murphy-Fitzsimmons bout of last Saturday.

Both Martin and Carbonne have victories over the present champion, Johnny Wilson, to their credit. Other victims on their lists include Tommy Robson, Pat Reed, George Chip, Soldier Barthold and many others equally as famous. Both have met Mike O'Dowd, and more than held their own with the aggressive ex-champ.

Matchmaker Eddie Harvey, who presented the Murphy-Fitzsimmons number as his first offering, after talking over the position, avers that the Martin-Carbonne number will be another hummer. Harvey knows boxers and boxing, and he is negotiating for many attractive matches for local fans.

There will be three other bouts tomorrow night, the first going on at 8:15 o'clock.

MARGARET

BABY OFFERED FOR SALE, BY MOTHER, FOR $250

NEW YORK—Baby Margaret will not be sold for $250, or any other amount. Her mother, Mrs. Catherine Nulty, advertised the tot "For Sale for $250," but when offers came, she changed her mind. Now Baby Margaret is back with her foster father, James Sweetman. She had previously been given to Sweetman and his wife. Then Mrs. Sweetman died and Margaret was returned to her mother. Mrs. Nulty found the struggle of providing for the little one too difficult. The "for sale" advertisement brought an offer from Mr. Sweetman to care for the child. Margaret's mother is allowed to see her at any time.

The Call'em

Harry Vardon says his present trip with Ted Ray will be his last one around the golf courses in this country. The Briton is growing older every year and feels that some day he must give up the effort he admits is now taking on such a Herculean task. That is why he is taking a battle of four and Harry, and they singularly grace every green, sea or fairway they elect to play upon.

Turbulent Ohio

Can you picture the state of Ohio this fall if the baseball teams in Cleveland and Cincinnati square off for the world series, the while Cox and Harding are engaging a battle of their own for the highest office within the gift of the people of the nation. The old state will be rocked right back on her heels and will probably be so tagged out after election time that everyone will feel like taking their summer vacations over again.

Whirling 'Em in the Stretch

Did you ever notice how sporting pages all over the country "dress up" a Grand Circuit racing story which features "Pop" Geers. The veteran reinsterman is campaigning almost every day now and whenever he lands a winner, romance and color creep into the report, which is as it should be, when all is said and done for his work is a monument to the sport.

PAT. McDONALD, STAR SHOT-PUTTER INJURED

ON BOARD THE U. S. PRINCESS MATOIKA, Aug. 3. (By wireless to Associated Press.)—Patrick J. McDonald of the New York Athletic club, America's leading entrant for the 16-pound shotput at the Olympic games, injured his right thumb today while working with the medicine ball during the practice of the squad today. A two-hour run by the marathon race entrants was the feature of the routine training of the squad today. For a week in retarding the progress of the Princess Matoika, but the trainers of the team are still hoping he will reach Antwerp in time to admit of a tryout for the men on Saturday.

OPEN TOURNAMENT OVER TWO 18-HOLE LINKS

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—For the first time in the history of golf, an open tournament was played today over two hole links on the grounds of the Olympic fields country club, where all the leading professionals contested for the first 36 holes, for the open championship of the United States Golf association. Play started at 9 o'clock on both courses and those who played the course No. 1 in the forenoon, used course No. 2 in the afternoon. This arrangement will permit all of the 100 entrants to continue in play during the entire tournament, instead of devoting two days to elimination rounds, as has been the practice.

James Barnes of the Sunset Hill club, St. Louis, who won the championship last year, is defending the honor against substantially the same field he defeated then. Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British professionals, were unable to compete because of exhibition dates.

Among the contestants are two recent winners from Europe, Lawrence Ayton of Evanston club, Chicago, paired with Barnes, and Charles Mayo of Edgewater club, Chicago, paired with Walter Hagen. Mayo is a national champion, and twice holder of the western title. Another strong contender is J. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, another champion, who won the Canadian championship with a record score last year. The courses of the Olympic field club are in good condition, although considerable waterlogging has been used to keep the greens soft enough to grip approaches. The greens are well irrigated and the fairways are rolling with copious here and there. The club has a third 18-hole course that can be used for practice.

WORLD'S RECORD American Boy Scouts Win at "Jamboree"

LONDON, Aug. 3.—A team of American Boy Scouts from Miami, Fla., at the International Boy Scouts "Jamboree" today, captured the world title by winning the 100-mile relay race. The team, which consisted of eight boys, won the race in 10 hours and 10 minutes, setting a new world record. The race was held at the Crystal Palace in London, and was one of the most popular events of the jamboree.

DECISION IN MISKE-DEMPSEY BOUT

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Jack Dempsey will run the risk of losing his heavyweight championship title by referee Mike's decision, when he fights Billy Miske of St. Paul at Henton Harbor, today, unless present plans so arsey.

Under the Michigan law decision bouts are permissible when sanctioned by the state boxing commission and promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons announced today that he had received assurances from the commission that a decision would be allowed.

SHARKEY-MARTIN BOUT CALLED DRAW

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—The Jack Sharkey-Terry Martin bout here last night ended in a draw after one of the most stubbornly contested fights between bantamweights seen in a Boston ring in months.

At Delmont refereed and, like the fighters, he filed the bill to perfection and handed the men in a style.

Both boxers seemed bent on crushing the other's ribs, their attack being in that direction most of the time. Martin was slow getting started and allowed Sharkey to take a slight lead in the first two rounds, but he more than made up by cutting the new Yorker almost out of the picture in the third session.

Sharkey started to increase his advantage in the first minute of the third but before the first round was finished he was so sorely punished that he had no more evidence of the hard usage and punches he stopped, while his head was almost unhinged from a succession of right punches.

BAKER PRAISES K. OF C.

Announces Gen. Allen to Represent U. S. at Dedication of Lafayette Statue

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—General Allen, commanding the American army of occupation in Germany, has been designated as the representative of the United States government at the dedication of the Knight of Columbus statue of General Lafayette at Metz, on Aug. 21. A telegram to this effect from Secretary of War Baker was read at this morning's session of the Knights' annual convention. Mr. Baker congratulated the organization for its "splendid work."

A detailed report as to what the Knights of Columbus did with the $39,769,558.33 collected for welfare work during the war, was made to the convention by the supreme board of directors.

A total of $21,516,467.20 was spent on camp, community, and employment activities in this country and $5,356,000 in foreign countries. Educational work, exclusive of college scholarships and including only actual accomplishments to June 30, 1920, cost $1,791,555.

The directors reported that a total of $7,000,000 remains for other educational work after accounting for nearly $5,000,000 which has been devoted to scholarships. Low overhead charges, the report said, had allowed the Knights to continue their program without resorting to another campaign for funds.

The report, outlining plans for Knights of Columbus schools opening in September, said 37 courses will be offered to students and it is expected 500 units will ultimately be established. In conclusion, the report promised that welfare work will be continued as long as former soldiers demand it. During the past year employment was provided for more than 350,000 veterans.

ECONOMIC WAR IN IRELAND NEAR

DUBLIN, Aug. 4 (By the Associated Press).—Indications of an outbreak of economic war between north and south Ireland are increasing as a result of the expulsion of Catholic workmen from shipyards and other industrial concerns in the north by the Protestant fellow workmen. It is thought in some quarters that this will be the next move to add to the already great embarrassments of the country.

Some western towns already are threatening a boycott against Belfast goods, it is said, and there is danger of this policy spreading into other trades, including the banking system which hitherto has been one of the few bonds between the north and south. Unhappily, especially fears this action, as much of the capital which supports northern industries comes from the south.

The Irish Times points out that such a boycott is quite practical, as southern and western Ireland are more bitterly organized than at any other time in their history. "The boycott," says the newspaper, "would indicate political strife and would cripple many departments of industry. It would prove that the rest of Ireland cannot dispense with Belfast any more than Belfast, for all its pride and self-dependence, can dispense with the rest of Ireland."

CHALFOUX CLERKS ON VACATION

The list of vacationists at the J. L. Chalfoux Co. this week is as follows: Alfred A. Burns of the dress goods department, colonel of the O.M.I. Cadets, is in camp this week at Milligan's grove, Wilmington.

Miss Jeannette Cole of the main office is spending two weeks in Canada. Miss Vera Durgin of the main office is spending her vacation at Northfield, Mass.

Mr. Robert Means, floor superintendent, is resting at his farm in Tewksbury.

Miss Mize Bradley of the underwear department is stopping at Hampton beach for two weeks.

Miss Josephine O'Brien, buyer for the neckwear and handkerchief department, is enjoying the sea breezes at Hampton.

Miss Helen Crowley, buyer for the notions department, will spend the next two weeks at Hampton.

Miss Clara Shay of the Victrola department, is spending her vacation at Winthrop beach.

Miss Anna Gagnon of the Little Grey Shop is touring the various beaches along the North Shore.

Miss Press of the upstairs shoe department is at Nantasket beach.

Mr. Lester Robinson, lieutenant-colonel of the O.M.I. Cadets, is camping at Milligan's grove.

Miss Grace O'Neil of the shipping department is visiting relatives and friends at Ayer, Mass.

BIG DROP IN POTATO PRICES

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Potatoes have taken a sudden drop in the local retail market. They were wholesaling to dealers yesterday as low as 10 cents a bushel, a price which means according to market experts, that they should not be retailed at more than 60 or 65 cents.

A tour of the local retail market yesterday revealed such incongruities as signs of "Potatoes 11 a bushel" and others reading "75 cents a bushel" directly across the street. The answer to this, the experts explain, is that many dealers were caught with large supplies of potatoes on their hands which they had purchased at high prices.

Two weeks ago potatoes were selling at 11 a bushel. Now they can be bought for as low as 10. There is every prospect that they will go lower before the summer is over.

In the early part of the 19th century Boston used to celebrate Armistice day a week after a new governor was elected.

Sen. Harding Talks on League

at home," and added that "if America can be made to forget the attempted harter of nationality, well and good," but that "when nationality is surrendered to internationality, little else matters, and all appeal is vain."

The address was delivered to a delegation of Wayne county, Ohio, republicans. "There is another thought relating to concord so essential to continued advancement. It was said the other day that the democratic party meant specially to appeal to the farmers and the wage earners and let world experiment the failure of the world experiment. If America can be made to forget the attempted harter of nationality, it would be better if we could forget. But when nationality is surrendered to internationality, little else matters, and all appeal is in vain. There is only one other menace so threatening to our tranquility. That menace is the appeal to class in determining what our government is to be. I would hold myself unworthy of your confidence if I spoke an appeal to either farmers or wage earners, because of their larger numbers. We wish the confidence of all."

"You said, Judge Taggart, this delegation comes from shop, store, factory, office and farm. We could not well get along without any of them. We must exchange as well as produce. And we must teach and preach in order to attain as well as to acquire."

"There isn't any governmental part in fixing pursuit, profession or employment. Perhaps I ought to modify that and say except during war; government did interfere for the war, and we want to end that interference. We want a free America again. We want America free at home and free in the world. We want to silence the outcry of nation against nation, in the fullness of understanding, and we wish to silence the cry of class against class, and let the party appeal to class so that we may insure tranquility in our freedom. If I could choose for one, I had rather have industrial and social peace at home than command the international peace of all the world."

"In the study of the great world tragedy, someone has pointed out that the world war might have been avoided if united Germany had adopted that feature of our constitution which gives congress the right to declare war. Many advocates of pacifism think our safeguards are not enough, that there should be a referendum to the people before war. The other extreme is found among those who seriously propose that a council of foreign powers shall summon the sons of this republic to war anywhere in the world. I emphatically agree that no authority other than congress may call our boys to battle. Accepting this truth, why make a covenant which violates the good faith of nations?"

"Suppose that, under the military alliance and the super-authority of Article X, a program of armed force is agreed upon, and the congress of the United States declines to respond. The executive would be called upon to carry on a war without constitutional authority, or we should prove our compact no more than a scrap of paper. We are on the side of both safety and honor to hold for ourselves the decision of our obligations to the world."

Senator Harding's address, in part, follows:
"You must be confidently and fearlessly American to measure to the renowned name of Wayne. The story of Wayne county is that of the great beginning of the northwest territory, whose sturdy civilization our obligations are to preserve and defend. Some day I hope we shall fittingly commemorate the sacrifices and the achievements of these courageous frontiersmen and their strong-hearted women."

"It is worth remembering that the pioneers—these stalwart makers of America—were little less varied in their origin than our people of today. Either they or their forebears came from lands across the sea. But they were thinking only of America. There was more than sole allegiance to the land of adoption; they were interested and devoted heart and soul. They were in complete unison with one purpose, one confidence, one pride."

"When I sat on the senate committee on foreign relations and listened to American delegations appealing in behalf of kinsmen or old home folks across the seas, I caught the aspirations of nationality, and a perfectly natural sympathy among kindred in this republic. But I little realized then how we might rend the concord of American citizenship in our seeking to solve old world problems."

"There have come to me, not at all homogeneously, the expressed anxieties of Americans foreign-born, who are asking our country's future attitude on territorial awards in the adjustment of peace. They are Americans all, but they have a proper and natural interest in the fortunes of kindred and native lands. One cannot blame them. If our land is to settle the envies, rivalries, jealousies and hatreds of all civilizations, these adopted sons of the republic want the settlement favorable to the land from which they came."

"The misfortune is not alone that it tends the concord of nations, the greater pity is that it tends the concord of our citizenship at home. It is folly to think of blending Greek and Bulgarian; Italian and Slovak, or making any of them rejoicingly American when the land of adoption sits in judgment on the land from which they came."

"Governor Coolidge spoke the other day of the rescue of America from the reactions of war. We also need to be rescued from the visionary and fruitless pursuit of peace through supergovernment. I do not want Americans of foreign birth making their party alignments on what we mean to do

CORK, Aug. 4.—A resolution urging that the landing of Archbishop Mannix, of Australia, in Ireland be signalized by bonfires and general illuminations next Saturday, night and that meetings of protest be held against what is described as "an act of British tyranny and an insult to a great Catholic prelate," was passed at a joint meeting of the Cork urban district council and the Cork city Sinn Féin executives yesterday.

It was announced at the end of the meeting that the freedom of Cork for Archbishop Mannix would be proposed at a meeting of the Cork corporation Friday.

HULTMAN NAMED TO SUCCEED SHERBURNE

BOSTON, Aug. 4.—Eugene Hultman of Utley, was appointed by Governor Coolidge today chairman of his commission on the necessities of life to succeed Brig. Gen. John H. Sherburne, resigned. Mr. Hultman is connected with the engineering department of the Boston Elevated Railway. He was formerly a state senator.

Chester I. Campbell of Quincy was named chairman of the commission to consider the advisability of holding a celebration in or near Boston of the Pilgrim Tercentenary in 1921.

REPORT ATTY. GEN. PALMER TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Attorney-General Palmer will resign his office within a few days, according to current rumors. Two members of his staff, have resigned since the Frisco convention, and it is expected that the resignation of the attorney-general will be handed in shortly, together with the resignations of other members of his staff.

Rumor has it that in the resignations to be offered is that of Robert Scott, who was formerly assistant attorney-general, later manager of Mr. Palmer's San Francisco headquarters and now his private secretary.

WANT LEVIATHAN AS STEERAGE LINER

NEW YORK, August 3.—A proposal that the giant steamship Leviathan, formerly the Hamburg-American liner "Vaterland," which for more than a year has been lying idle at her Hoboken dock, be used to transport steerage passengers to and from Italy without restoring her former palatial cabin accommodations, was recently made to the United States Shipping board. It was learned here yesterday.

The proposal, it was said, came from a shipping firm now engaged in an extensive business of handling third class passengers, but was not favorably received by the board.

The big ship as she now stands could be used with but little alteration of her present troop transport facilities for steerage passengers, and it was said that she could accommodate more than 5000 persons each voyage.

Demand for third-class accommodations now exceeds the available tonnage. The proposal to use the ship, it is understood, was on a charter basis.

52 MURDERS IN NEW YORK SINCE JAN. 1

NEW YORK, August 4.—Fifty-two murders have been committed in New York city during the seven months since January 1, setting a homicide record unparalleled in many previous years, it was stated last night at the district attorney's office.

The death list includes the mysterious murder of Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and whist expert. In the six convictions returned to these cases, none has been for murder in the first degree. Indictments have been returned in 23 cases. In 16 of the 52 murders, no arrests have been made.
